BOY SCOUTS LEADERS IN DISTRICT COUNCIL

Members Meet Here, Listen To Reports, Brief Talks And Music Program

THE quarterly meeting and good-fellowship dinner of the Verdugo Hills District Council, Boy Scouts of America, held last night at the Harriett Mae Tea Room, registered a large turnout and offered a snappy program, followed by an important business session.

The Boy Scout orchestra of Glendale Troop No. 2, under the direction of Francis J. W. Henry, furnished the music, and excellent music it was. This orchestra has grown from five to eight pieces, with the following personnel: Horace Brown, violin; Arthur Barton, saxophone; Dallas Kalbaugh, traps; Henry Sawyer, saxophone; John Klan, cornet; Roscoe Graham, cornet; Robert Reynolds, clarinet; Graham Young piano.

A. R. Eastman, president of the Council, acted as toastmaster and chairman. Roy L. Kent made a short talk on "The Scout Leaders' Roundtable as I Saw It," setting forth the purpose of the Roundtable and urging Council members to attend its monthly meetings.

Interesting Talk
"Scouting in Burbank" was handled by Dr. A. E. W. Yale, the new divisional director. According to Dr. Yale, the Boy Scout movement in Burbank is jumping ahead in leaps and bounds. An organization of Burbank business men has recently been formed, which has put Scouting on a permanent footing.

Charles H. Toll was the next speaker and his talk centered around the subject, "Why We Need an Active Functioning Council." In speaking of the Council, Mr. Toll said that if the Scout Council didn't show activity, neither would the boys. "The Council's first consideration is the boys and the scoutmaster," he said. "We must do everything in our power to help and encourage the latter, particularly. These leaders will feel more anxious to intensify their work in the troops if they can feel they are solidly backed up by an active, functioning Council. The Scout Council is a very healthy thing for the community. Everybody benefits from the results obtained through their activity." There has been no time in the history of the country when the need of the Scout training was more urgent than at present, as a foundation for our boys and a preliminary to future citizenship. To my notion the Boy Scout program is the most superior machine in existence for making of good citizens."

Tomorrow's Citizens
Principal George U. Moyle of the Glendale Union High school emphasized Mr. Toll's talk, stating that the great trouble of the city was laxness to authority. "I believe the spirit of Scouting is the antidote to the disturbances we are having in our modern life today," he said.

Mr. Eastman called on several of the men present to give their opinions of Scouting. Jesse E. Smith declared that it would have been a great treat for him if he had had the privilege when a boy to sit and eat at the same table with the business men of the city of Detroit. "There is nothing more important," he declared, "than the right training of today's boys for tomorrow's citizens."

Pyramid of Scouts to Be Formed By Masons

Preliminary steps in the organization of a Pyramid of Scouts will be taken Monday night in a meeting commencing at 8 o'clock in I. O. O. F. Hall, 201-A West Broadway, by local Masons.

"This is the Rotary Club of Monterey," asserted Frank Withers, secretary of the Los Angeles Pyramid. "It is a boosting organization. Quite a number of Glendale Masons are members of the Los Angeles Pyramid."

Mr. Withers stated that a large Pyramid is in existence in San Diego and that one was established Wednesday night in San Bernardino.

Delay Discussion Of Glendale Ave. Paving

The paving of Glendale Avenue was mentioned at last night's City Council meeting but, owing to the pressure of other business, it was not discussed. Mayor Spencer Robinson called attention to the fact that preliminary work by the engineering department would not be completed for two weeks.

Odd Fellows, Rebekahs Come Here On Saturday For Great Celebration

THE three links of Oddfellowship will be the magnet that will bring Odd Fellows and Rebekahs from all parts of Los Angeles county to Glendale tomorrow for the celebration of the 104th anniversary of the founding of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. One of the largest crowds ever assembled in the city is anticipated and civic, religious and social organizations will join with the local Odd Fellows and Rebekah lodges in entertaining the visitors.

Initiating the day's program will be the grand parade at 11 o'clock, led by a motorcycle escort, the grand marshal of the day, W. J. Royle, the deputy grand master, Dr. H. C. Smith, the cantons in full dress and the executive committee. Following will be lodge bands and lodge delegations from the various cities of the county. The fire department will be the final division.

The line of march will be from California avenue and Brand boulevard south on Brand boulevard to Colorado street; doubling back on Brand boulevard to Broadway, then to Glendale avenue on East Broadway, where the parade will disband and cars will take the lodge members and guests to the Glendale Verdugo park.

PARADE FORMATION

Formation of the parade is announced as: Elks band executive officers of all Odd Fellow lodges; executive officers of all Rebekah lodges; Los Angeles I. O. O. F. band; Rebekahs of all lodges; children of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs; Odd Fellows of all lodges; autos to take care of Rebekahs and Odd Fellows who cannot march; the fire department.

Assembling of divisions will be as follows: Motorcycle escort, marshal, deputy grand master, cantons and executive committee and band, form on west side of Brand, north of California.

Executive officers of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs to form on Wilson between Brand and Central.

Band, Rebekahs, children and Odd Fellows of all lodges to form on Central between Wilson and Broadway.

Automobiles and fire department form on Central, north of Wilson.

AT THE PARK

Upon arrival at the park after the parade a basket lunch with free coffee will be enjoyed from 12 till 1:30 o'clock.

At 1:30 o'clock the program will open with the singing of "America" and prayer by Rev. C. R. Norton. Mayor Spencer Robinson will give an address of welcome and the two main addresses will be by Dr. H. C. Smith on "The Three Links," and Rev. Bruce Brown on "The Mission of I. O. O. F."

SPORTS PROGRAM

Sports during the afternoon will be in charge of R. Ernest Tucker, Glendale Community Service executive.

A grand ball will be held at night. Members of the committee arranging the celebration are: Mrs. Loretta Schwitters, noble grand of the Glendale Carnation Rebekah lodge, president; Charles Connor, vice-president; May Reynolds, secretary, Hugh Harrison, treasurer.

Chairmen, R. Rasmussen, W. N. Hunt and A. C. Anderson; entertainment committee, Carl Wilde, D. A. Hall, Mr. Hester and H. W. Hollenbeck; Carl W. Schwitters, chairman of concessions.

URGE BOULEVARD BE CONSTRUCTED

Improvement of Burchett St. Advocated At Meeting Of City Council

The importance of making Burchett street into a boulevard and connecting it with San Fernando road at Grand View avenue was emphasized by H. M. Butts of 204 South Brand boulevard last night before the City Council.

"I believe as projected this would be of financial interest to all the subdividers beyond the Burchett junction," he remarked. "It will cost the people of Glendale very little."

The fact was brought out that Edwards & Wiley have intimated their intention of developing a tract to the northwest of Burchett street and that the diagonal extension of this street, probably would pass directly through it.

The matter was laid on the table until a conference could be held with Edwards & Wiley to ascertain their attitude.

Mr. Butts was accompanied at the meeting by R. E. Johnston of 124 South San Fernando road and W. C. Waring of 201 South Brand boulevard, both members of the Glendale Exchange club.

Plans Being Furthered For Electric Railway

The Glendale Advancement Association held its regular weekly meeting yesterday noon at 201 East Harvard street and discussed the paving of Glendale avenue.

Secretary Herman Nelson of 700 East Broadway read a communication from W. H. Comstock, general manager of the Union Pacific, in which he stated that the work of securing franchises for the establishment of electric street car service on Glendale avenue was proceeding as rapidly as possible. He added that it might be necessary to start condemnation proceedings to acquire a certain necessary piece of property as a transfer point between the Union Pacific Railroad and the Glendale & Montrose Railway.

MASONS TO PLAN FOR NEW TEMPLE

Building Committee Anxious For All Members To Attend Meeting

The Masonic committee that has been working on the plans for the erection of a new Masonic Temple is anxious to see as many members of the order as possible present at the meeting that is to be held on the first floor of the Masonic Temple on South Brand boulevard tonight at 7:30 o'clock, when the plans for the new building will be submitted and discussed in detail.

It is essential, the members state, that a full expression of opinion be had on all points affecting the new structure, and they desire to have every point in connection with the plans settled before instructing the architects to proceed with the plans and specifications, as it is expected that the action to be taken tonight will be final in its character and the new home of the order in Glendale will be definitely decided upon at this meeting.

John Everson Seeks City Attorney Place

An application for appointment as city attorney was received from Atty. John Everson of 103-A North Brand boulevard last night by the City Council.

"I have lived in this county for six years and in Glendale about three years," states a communication from Mr. Everson. "I came from Alma, Harlan County, Nebraska, to California. I was admitted to practice law in Nebraska in the year 1887 and was actively engaged in practice there for twenty-five years. I am a member of the American Bar Association and have been for many years. I was prosecuting attorney one term, county judge three terms, member of the city council, member of the school board and held other minor township and city offices."

Atty. John Everson resides at 611 North Central avenue. He stated that he intends to remain in Glendale permanently. His application was referred to the committee of the whole.

BUY CORNER BRAND AND ELK FOR $65,000

Earle C. Pendroy and D. J. Hanna Make Purchase Through W. B. Kelly

Added evidence that Glendale really activities are not lagging is offered in the announcement made this morning that the southwest corner of South Brand boulevard and Elk avenue has been sold to Earle C. Pendroy and D. J. Hanna, local capitalists, for $65,000. The deal was negotiated by W. B. Kelly, local realtor.

The property has a frontage of 145 feet on Brand boulevard and in view of the lowering of the Pacific Electric tracks it will be one of the most desirable business sites on Brand.

The purchasers of the property have shown their faith in Glendale's future by buying this property, which is directly in the path of the city's great business growth.

Mr. Kelly, who was in charge of the deal, highly compliments both Mr. Pendroy and Mr. Hanna on the business venture and predicts splendid possibilities for business.

WILL BUILD TANK TO SUPPLY WATER

300,000 Gallon Reservoir Site On Hill-Top Donated By Realty Firm

The City Council last night took action which, within a short time, will supply about seventy-five acres on the hills in the southeast section of the city with an adequate supply of water for domestic purposes.

Peter Diederich, superintendent of the Public Service Department, was authorized to advertise for bids on the installation of a 300,000 gallon tank about 30 feet high and 42 feet in diameter. This will be placed on a site donated by the realty firm of Hadcock Nibley company upon the highest point of one of the hills east of Adams street at an elevation of 820 feet. Water from this tank will supply Glendale Heights, Oakridge and adjoining acreage.

The calling of bids for a suitable booster pump and the construction of a 14 by 18 cement-tile pump house to cost about $750 was authorized, also.

Mr. Diederich stated this morning that much of this property has been sold, already, and that numbers of homes will be built upon it as soon as the supply of water is assured.

Maryland Avenue To Have Light System

The City Council last night accepted the bid of the Public Service Department to install twenty-four ornamental one-light Maryland standards on Maryland avenue between Wilson avenue and Harvard street at a cost of $5500.

Peter Diederich, superintendent of the Public Service Department, stated this morning that it would be sixty days before any actual work could be done because of the necessity of getting the standard and glassware from the east.

Each of the lights will have a capacity of 100 candlepower. They will be placed seventy-five feet to the north and south of Broadway and at intervals of about 110 feet thereafter. Lights on each side of the street will be opposite each other.

The cost of installing these lights will be borne by the property owners but they will be maintained and supplied with electricity by the City of Glendale.

Boy Scouts To Stage Flag Raising Ceremony

A flag-raising ceremony by Boy Scouts will open the "Play Week" event tomorrow afternoon in the Verdugo Hills park. The flag will be raised at 1:30 o'clock on the new flag pole.

Later the swimming pool will be opened with special stunts by high school boys directed by H. L. Butterfield. There will also be races by Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and Campfire Girls.

F. H. Killick, expert swimmer, will give demonstrations.

AGAINST LEASING

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 27.—By an almost unanimous vote with only five opposing, the Florida house of representatives passed a bill making it unlawful to lease county convicts to private corporations, individuals or firms, prohibiting any logging and providing that guards must furnish bonds which will be forfeited for violation of the law.

AGAN SEEKS SERUM LAW TO TREAT CANINES

Health Officer Asks Action On Measure; Councilman Horn Proposes Revision

The "dog question" came up once more last night before the City Council.

Upon the recommendation of Dr. G. Kaemmerling, city health officer, Councilman W. A. Horn made a motion, which was seconded by Councilman Asa Haly, that the legal department of the city should revise the present "dog" ordinance so as to exempt all canines who have been vaccinated with the anti-rabic serum.

Mayor Spencer Robinson stated that persons who care anything for their dogs will be glad to have them vaccinated and protected, and that those who don't care for their dogs don't deserve to have them. There was no discussion of the subject.

Makes Statement
"As health officer of the city of Glendale, I wish to call your attention to the prevalence of rabies within the confines of the city of Glendale," asserted a communication from Dr. G. Kaemmerling.

"Since September 1, 1922 to date we have administered the Pasteur treatment to nineteen persons who have been bitten by dogs which were afflicted with rabies and three persons have been treated privately making a total of twenty-two victims of rabid dogs within the past seven months.

"Since January first there have been four persons succumb to rabies inflicted by dogs in Los Angeles County alone and the number of animals suffering from the disease is rapidly increasing and, unless preventive measures are energetically carried out, we will be facing a truly serious condition.

Recognized Method
"In regard to the preventive measure being put into effect here in Glendale, I would respectfully suggest that we have a known and recognized method of preventing the spread of rabies among animals by the use of the anti-rabic serum. This treatment is endorsed by the head of the Bureau of Animal Husbandry of the United States government, so is not an experiment.

"If the present 'dog' ordinance could be amended to exempt all dogs from its provisions that have been properly vaccinated against rabies and the ordinance rigidly enforced, we will eliminate within thirty days rabies from the city of Glendale."

PROTEST DELAYS STREET WIDENING

Ordinance To Be Drawn Up Fixing Set-Back Line On San Fernando

The City Council last night recognized the protest against the widening of San Fernando road between Pacific avenue and Los Feliz road and intimated that it would have an ordinance prepared establishing a set-back line ten feet back of each curb along the entire length of the street.

C. J. Griffin of 1035 South San Fernando road brought the subject before the Council by requesting that the fact that he has already donated to the city for street purposes a strip ten feet wide and 140 feet long on the west side of San Fernando road be requested that the new set-back ordinance be phrased in such a way that the set-back line would not take an additional ten feet off the property.

Airport District Is Election Scene Today

The so-called municipal airport after today may belong to the city of Glendale. Or rather, it may be within the corporate limits of the city of Glendale. An annexation election is being held today in the Flower street district, which includes the airport.

The polling place is the home of Ed Radcliff, City Clerk A. J. Van Wie, who left home at 5 o'clock this morning in order to see that that booth was open at 6 o'clock, stated upon his return that about seven people were entitled to vote.

COUNCIL MINUTES

The official minutes of the Glendale City Council will appear in full in Saturday's Evening News.

Mrs. Mary Howard Gridley Braly, Club Woman, Scholar, Philanthropist, Passes Away

MRS. MARY HOWARD GRIDLEY BRALY

Death Terminates Long Illness; Funeral Services To Take Place On Saturday At Family Home, 505 North Brand

MRS. MARY HOWARD GRIDLEY BRALY, club woman, philanthropist, church worker and scholar, died at 7:40 o'clock last night, Thursday, April 26, 1923, at her home at 505 North Brand boulevard. Her death terminated a long period of failing health and a recent two weeks' illness from pleural pneumonia.

In her passing the Tuesday Afternoon Club loses a past president and honorary life member; the General Richard Gridley chapter, Daughter of American Revolution, the organizing and life regent; the Congregational church a valued member; and the city of Glendale and Southern California a talented and intellectual woman, whose ability was widely recognized and whose influence can be traced in every civic, club, religious and political activity in which women participate.

Mary Howard Gridley Braly was born in a little town in central Illinois of New England parentage. Her parents, staunch New England Puritans, pioneered west from Boston, Mass., and founded the little town where their daughter was born.

Mrs. Braly's early life was spent in Illinois, and later she lived for many years in Iowa. She also made her home for many years in New York coming west in 1909 to reside in Glendale.

Devoted to Study
At an early age she became a member of the Congregational church and her church activities and intellectual pursuits were the dominating interests of her life.

She was devoted to literary study and pursuits and after years of early training with a private tutor she entered Oberlin College in Ohio, where she was a student until the Civil War broke out. Returning home she continued her studies under the direction of a Congregational minister and scholar.

Her intellectual accomplishments and later travel abroad fitted her most admirably as a speaker and she was widely recognized as one of the most interesting lecturers before clubs and church organizations.

During her travels abroad she made special study of Oriental lands and she was considered a connoisseur on fine rugs.

In National Records
A descendant from New England ancestry, Mrs. Braly was eligible for the Daughters of the American Revolution, and her work in this organization is written in the national records. While living in New York City she was active in D. A. R. affairs, and upon coming to California she served as organizing regent of two chapters in Los Angeles, and as organizing and life regent of the Glendale chapter in 1913. At one time she was a member of the national executive board of the D. A. R. children's activities. She also served nineteen times as delegate to the D. A. R. annual continental congresses in Washington, D. C.

In directing the Glendale chapter during recent years Mrs. Braly was intensely interested and active in the work assisting the Los Angeles Maternity hospital.

Tuesday Club Member
Another interest of Mrs. Braly was the Tuesday Afternoon club, which she joined in 1910, one year after her arrival in Glendale. She served as club president during the fall of 1910, and winter and spring of 1911, and was made an honorary life member of the club in the spring of 1911.

She also served on the Public Library board from 1912 and during the building of the present building until the dedication. She was one of the speakers at the dedicatory exercises.

Funeral services are to be held Saturday afternoon, April 28, 1923, at 3 o'clock at the Braly home at 505 North Brand boulevard. Burial will take place in Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

Mrs. Braly's body will lie in state at the home from 11 o'clock Saturday morning until the hour for the funeral.

Arrangements are being made by the Jewel City Undertaking company.

Bus Committee Raises $20,000 Today Noon

The committee that has been working on the campaign to raise funds to take up the option on the Verdugo Hills Transportation Company's franchise, reported at noon today that the amount subscribed had run well over $20,000, and the members are concentrating in full strength to raise the balance before night, in order that the option may be exercised.

Every effort is being made, here and in other quarters, to secure the total amount of $56,000 called for by the option, and as soon as this can be subscribed Glendale will be assured of a local and interurban motor bus system.

MYSTERY DEATH

MANILA, April 27.—Lieutenant John T. Newlands of the 28th chemical warfare service and graduate of West Point in 1915, was found dead in his room shortly after noon today. Physicians are puzzled as to the cause of his death.

WARFARE IN IRELAND TO CEASE ON MONDAY

De Valera Issues Orders To Irregular Army to Lay Down Their Arms

By DANIEL O'CONNELL, For International News Service

DUBLIN, April 27.—The war in Ireland will end on Monday, it was learned this afternoon from the highest possible source. Eamonn de Valera, leader of the republicans, has issued an order to the irregular army to cease hostilities at noon on April 30.

De Valera is the only republican irregular leader of consequence left in the field and he is said to have come to a realization that it is hopeless to attempt to fight the Irish Free State any longer.

The morale of the irregular army has fallen steadily since the death of Liam Lynch, the chief of staff, and the military brains of the republican movement. De Valera has left with only a handful of followers. His leaders were mostly Amazonian women, many of whom have been arrested in the past few weeks.

Not Surprised
News that De Valera had ordered his followers in the field to quit fighting was received by Free State officials with great joy but they were not surprised. The steady succession of Free State victories in the field convinced them that the irregulars could not hold out much longer. It is not assumed that absolute peace will settle down upon the country at once. There are numerous outlaw bands, who hid their guerrilla depredations and raids under the cloak of "republican patriotism." These bands will have to be rounded up before tranquility is general.

DENTAL SOCIETY ADOPTS BY-LAWS

Educational And Clinical Advancement Planned At Meeting Here

Dr. J. C. Luccock, dentist, of 620 East Broadway, was hostess last night at the meeting of the Glendale Dental society, the branch of the Southern California and Los Angeles County Dental association.

Speakers were Dr. R. C. Lane, a member of the executive board, and Dr. Bert Boyd, secretary of the Southern California association. They both spoke on organization and at the close of their talks by-laws were approved and committees appointed to further organization and clinical advancement.

The next business meeting of the society is to be held the night of May 9 in the office of Dr. R. W. Sherred at 111 East Broadway. A social affair is to be held May 11, with a dinner and informal meeting.

Included in the membership are nearly all dentists and technicians in Glendale, Burbank and San Fernando valley.

Opposes Paving Of Alleys At Present

An objection to the paving of the alleys in the business district until sewer mains have been laid is contained in a communication from O. E. Brown of 308 East Broadway which was received last night by the City Council.

"I wish to call your attention to the inadvisability of paving alleys that are in fairly good shape and passable until such time as your contemplated sewer line is installed," he remarked. "It certainly is not good judgment to pave an alley and then tear it up again to install the sewer line and then repave the alley. It is extra expense all around and property owners, of which I am one, are the ones to pay all expenses of such work."

Hotel Meeting For Tonight Is Postponed

The meeting of those interested in the new hotel at California avenue and North Brand boulevard, scheduled for tonight, has been postponed until Monday night, according to an announcement made this morning by Mattison B. Jones, chairman.

On Monday night those interested in the project are to meet at 7:30 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce hall.

Daily HEALTH-AGAIN TALKS

By Dr. Otey

You must be healthy and strong if you are to arise with vigor. Unless you want your body and your brain distorted and stunted, they must be well nourished and exercised. Life is a hard and bitter warfare. Everywhere you go an enemy confronts you. If you cannot think quickly and act vigorously and boldly, you will not be victorious when pitted against men (and women) who think quickly and act like tigers (in business, in social, in political, and in love affairs). The world is to the strong—"The meek may inherit the earth," but they will never get it any other way. The reason why millions sink down under the stress of modern life is because they lack strong minds and strong bodies. When the crises come they will wilt and fail. Nature's smile is only for the courageous, the strong, the beautiful and the all-daring. Don't submit your neck to the yoke of a mental position in life. Let Osteopathy (that is a little out of the ordinary) build you up to 100 per cent efficiency, mental and physical, where success is assured.

Personal Mention

Miss Florence Johnston, who has been visiting for several days Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Sweet of 115 North Central avenue, returned to her home last evening.

Mrs. I. L. Bullock of 517 West Park avenue was the luncheon guest of Mrs. G. Brown of Los Angeles on Wednesday. In the afternoon she was Mrs. Brown's guest at a matinee party.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Nicholas and daughter, Margaret, of 337 West Wilson avenue attended the dinner dance given recently by the ladies' auxiliary of Jinnistan Grotto of Los Angeles, of which Mrs. Nicholas is a member.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Stubbs of 408 Arden avenue will have the pleasure of entertaining as their house guests over the week-end Mrs. Stubbs' aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth McFarland, and daughter, Mrs. Frank Mains, of Woodlake, Cal.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Wiebe of 438 West Burnett street is under quarantine, due to the confinement of their daughter, Lenore, who has contracted scarlet fever. The little patient is reported to be progressing nicely.

Edgar Smith of 504 Fairmont street returned yesterday morning from Lower California, where he has been spending three weeks on a business trip. He leaves to-day for Imperial Valley and San Diego, also on business, and will be gone several days.

Mrs. H. R. Sibley of 718 South Brand boulevard, who has been ill for some time, recently returned to her home after spending several weeks at a local hospital. She leaves the last of this week or the first of next for Winslow, Ariz., where she will remain for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Tobias of 210 East Palmer avenue are having the pleasure of entertaining as their guests today their niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jensen of Ohio, who have recently arrived in Southern California. They expect to make their permanent home in Los Angeles.

Mrs. C. F. Coutts of 419 West Palmer avenue left Sunday for Fremont, Neb., where she will visit her sister. She will remain in the east for about two months and hopes to persuade her sister to return home with her. Mrs. Coutts is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed J. Stout of 421 West Palmer avenue.

Mrs. James Gritton of Wayne, Neb., who has been spending the winter in Southern California, is the house guest of Mrs. Rebecca Hunter of 634 West Doran street. Mrs. Gritton and Mrs. Hunter were neighbors for several years when Mrs. Hunter made her home in Wayne.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Leggett of Des Moines, Iowa, who have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Patch of W. Doran street for the past four weeks, returned Wednesday from a ten days' automobile trip to San Diego and the southern part of the state.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Painter of Seattle, Wash., who have been visiting in Glendale for the past few weeks during the serious illness of their daughter, Dr. Zora Painter Morris, will leave today for their home in the northern city. Their daughter, who is a patient at the Glendale Research hospital, is now entirely out of danger and expects to be up within a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Murphy and sons, Robert and Howard of 200 West Laurel, and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. L. Murphy of 132 West Laurel, attended the presentation, Thursday night, of the "Chimes of Normandy" by the senior class of Los Angeles High school, of which Miss Velma Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Murphy, is a member. Miss Murphy was also a member of the cast.

Little Virginia Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grover F. Adams of 516 Pioneer drive, who fell while playing at school several days ago, breaking one ankle and spraining the other, is getting along very nicely. Virginia's schoolmates and class teacher, Miss Bigelow of the Columbus Avenue school, have been very thoughtful during her illness, sending her flowers, letters and in many ways helping to make her shut-in days brighter.

Entertains Club

Mrs. James Cunningham entertained the "U and I" club at her home, 1026 Florence place Wednesday afternoon. The program of the afternoon was in charge of Miss Ida D. Myers, who presented the subject of "Antiques" in a most interesting manner.

A collection of genuine antiques and heirlooms was on exhibition by the members of the club, many of them a hundred or more years old. In this interesting collection were an old spinning wheel, one hundred years old, old-fashioned dresses and shawls, books, samplers, china and old style song books with square and triangular notes, exhibited by Miss Myers.

Mrs. Cunningham showed a fatted cape seventy-five years old and some English china. Mrs. Ashton brought a silver serving spoon which had been in the family over two hundred years and glassware of the pattern of seventy-five years ago.

Members present were Mrs. J. W. Ashton, Mrs. J. A. Server, Mrs. C. H. Whitney, Mrs. McNaughton Barnes, Miss Ida D. Myers and the hostess, Mrs. James Cunningham. The guests of the afternoon were Mrs. Sarah Skeltons of 610 West Broadway, and Mrs. Minnie Skeltons, 1219 South Central.

Following the program, cake and tea was served by the hostess.

Benefit Musical

One of the most delightful of the many affairs for the benefit of the Thursday Afternoon club building fund was the musical at the home of Mrs. A. L. Bancroft, 1423 South Brand, on Thursday afternoon, given by Mrs. Grover Smith, Mrs. Fred B. Raynard and Mrs. S. W. Siegmund, talented members of the St. Cecilia club. The hostesses of the affair were Mrs. S. D. Vantine, Mrs. Roy Bancroft, Mrs. C. Dunlop and Mrs. G. W. Macdougall.

The guests were received by Mrs. S. D. Vantine and Mrs. A. L. Bancroft. Mrs. E. J. Morgan presented the program. Mrs. Smith has a beautiful soprano voice, and was accompanied on the piano most sympathetically by Mrs. Raynard. Their numbers were "Allah" and "Dawn," (Chadwick), "The Snowing" (Benberg) in French, "Time for Making Songs" (Rogers), "Come to the Garden" (Falter), "Trees" (Rasbach), "Birthdays" (Collen). Mrs. Siegmund, pianist, delighted all with her playing of "Scherzo B" (Chopin), "Romance" (Schumann), and "The Trout" (Schubert-Heller).

About thirty-five guests enjoyed the afternoon. Fruit punch and delicious home made cake was served by the hostesses.

Wed at Church

Rev. H. C. Mullen officiated at the marriage last night, Thursday, April 26, 1923, of Miss Bessie Edna Ellis of Little Rock, Calif., and Raymond L. Cleeland of 336 West Ivy street, Glendale. The ceremony was performed at 7:30 o'clock and the young couple were attended by two witnesses.

Meet On Monday

The final lesson in parliamentary law, under the direction of Mrs. P. S. McNatt will be enjoyed Monday afternoon by the Parliamentary Law Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club meeting at 2 o'clock in the tea room at the clubhouse.

Mrs. C. A. Brandstater, curator of the section, is anxious that all members be present.

Hosts At Party

Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Carlock of 415 Lincoln avenue entertained a small group of their friends at a pleasantly arranged party at their home on Wednesday night. The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion, myriads of Cecil Brunner roses and other garden treasures being artistically displayed in combination with bow-ers of greenery.

The evening was enjoyed in music, games and dancing, several of the guests appearing on the impromptu program. Henry Cantor, well-known vocalist and "radio" singer, rendered several selections while a number of saxophone solos were played by William Cross of Los Angeles. Mrs. Carlock was also prevailed upon to share in the program, her part being the whistling of a few popular numbers.

Late in the evening a four-course buffet supper was served in the spacious dining-room, following which Japanese fortunes were revealed and other features enjoyed.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. H. Hobbs of Pasadena, Miss Agnes Carlock, Miss Bonnie Carlock, William Cross and Robert Cross, all of Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cantor and Mr. and Mrs. Homer B. Miller of this city.

Dinner Guests

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Murphy of 132 West Laurel street were the guests on Tuesday night of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eberhart of 1571 West First street, Los Angeles, at a dinner given in celebration of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. M. J. Addison, mother of Mrs. Murphy and Mrs. Eberhart. Of added interest to the occasion was the announcement of the engagement of Miss Irene Mountain Weber, a niece of the hostess and granddaughter of the complimented guest, to J. P. Morgan. The wedding will take place in the early summer. Miss Weber is a fine musician and has a beautiful contralto voice. Mr. Morgan and Miss Weber gave several numbers at a tea and musical given recently by Mrs. P. W. Murphy of 200 West Laurel street.

Bridge Luncheon

A very pleasant day was enjoyed Wednesday by the members of the Kaah Mee luncheon and Bridge club when Mrs. Omar Richardson entertained at the Sunset Canyon Country club in honor of her house guest, Mrs. Henry Strich of Chicago. Following the luncheon, the afternoon was spent in playing Bridge, at which Mrs. A. L. Bancroft was awarded the prize for high score and Mrs. Henry Strich was presented with the guest prize.

Those present were Mrs. Henry Strich, Mrs. A. L. Bancroft, Mrs. Charles Barker, Mrs. J. Herbert Smith, Mrs. Richard Dewey, Mrs. Charles Turck, Mrs. William Harvey and the hostess, Mrs. Omar Richardson.

Dance Success

The benefit "lucky spot" dance given last Tuesday evening by Mary Jane Gillette Tent No. 18 Daughters of Veterans, proved very successful. The music for the evening was furnished by the California Oriole orchestra.

Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Herbert Bessant and L. Beebe for lucky spot dances.

This dance proved such a success and everyone present had such a wonderfully good time the Daughters are making arrangements for another dance for Saturday, May 12.

THREE PLAYS ON CLUB'S PROGRAM

Drama Section Of Club To Present Performance To Raise Funds

Tuesday Afternoon club women of the Drama Section will make their bow tonight behind the footlights on the stage of the new clubhouse in the presentation of three one-act plays, directed by Mrs. Raymond E. Chase, curator of the Drama Section. The performance is to begin at 8:15 o'clock.

The affair is of particular significance in that the equipment of the stage was a gift from the Drama Section to the club and the plays are being given to raise money to pay for the gift.

The plays to be given are "The Dream Maker," a fantasy by Blanche Jennings Thompson; "The New Crusade," a hilarious comedy by Rachel Baker Gale; and "Finders-Keepers," a tense dramatic playlet by George Kelly.

Boy Scout Leaders In District Session

The Scoutmasters and the boys will help us to keep young if nothing else will," stated James F. McBryde.

Frank C. Ayars stated that there was something more to Scouting, for the men, than just coming out to the Council meetings. "We should attend the Roundtable meetings and the Court of Honor as well."

Following various reports on Scout activities and progress during the first quarter, two new members were voted into membership in the Council. These are Earle C. Pendroy and Bert Woodward, both of Glendale.

Scout Executive Harold Benner told of the need of an older Scouts organization and submitted a plan for the formation of a Scout Alumni club. A committee comprising Francis J. W. Henry, chairman, Major C. L. Wyman and Frank C. Ayars was appointed to make a study of the plan, with power to act. A. T. Cowan spoke very highly of the proposed Alumni club, stating that he felt there was a great need for it.

Those present at the Council meeting were Frank C. Ayars, George H. Bentley, A. T. Cowan, A. R. Eastman, Peter L. Ferry, Francis J. W. Henry, William Hunter, J. G. Huntley, Dan Kelly, Roy L. Kent, James F. McBryde, George U. Moyses, Walter H. Packard, Nathan Rigdon, Jesse E. Smith, Charles H. Toll, Capt. William C. Wattle, and also Dr. A. E. W. Yale of Burbank and C. L. Suits and Dr. M. M. Null of Eagle Rock.

L. A. Methodists At Jeter Services Here

A large delegation of young people from the Trinity Methodist church of Los Angeles, led by Professor Johnson, were special guests last night at the Jerry Jeter revival services held in the tabernacle at Broadway and Cedar street. They occupied the choir loft and took part in the evening's musical program.

Professor Johnson is the musical director of the large chorus choir at the Los Angeles church.

Noted Oil Operator Opens Office Here

Glendaleans will be interested in the announcement made by C. C. Julian, that he has opened a Glendale office at 229 North Brand boulevard.

Dr. Mark A. Denman will be in charge of the new office and, according to Mr. Julian, he will be prepared to give any information about the last oil syndicate.

"It is as well known as my three-well issue De Luxe," says Mr. Julian, "and Dr. Denman will be at the office to talk with all interested. The office will be open every evening until 9 o'clock."

Victim Of Elevator Accident Improves

Roy Faris of 123 S. Maryland avenue, who suffered a fracture of the right leg in a recent elevator accident in the Lawson building, it is reported from the office of Dr. C. M. Taylor, 111 East Broadway, is much improved. The patient has been removed to his home, where, with his leg in a plaster cast, he is said to be resting comfortably.

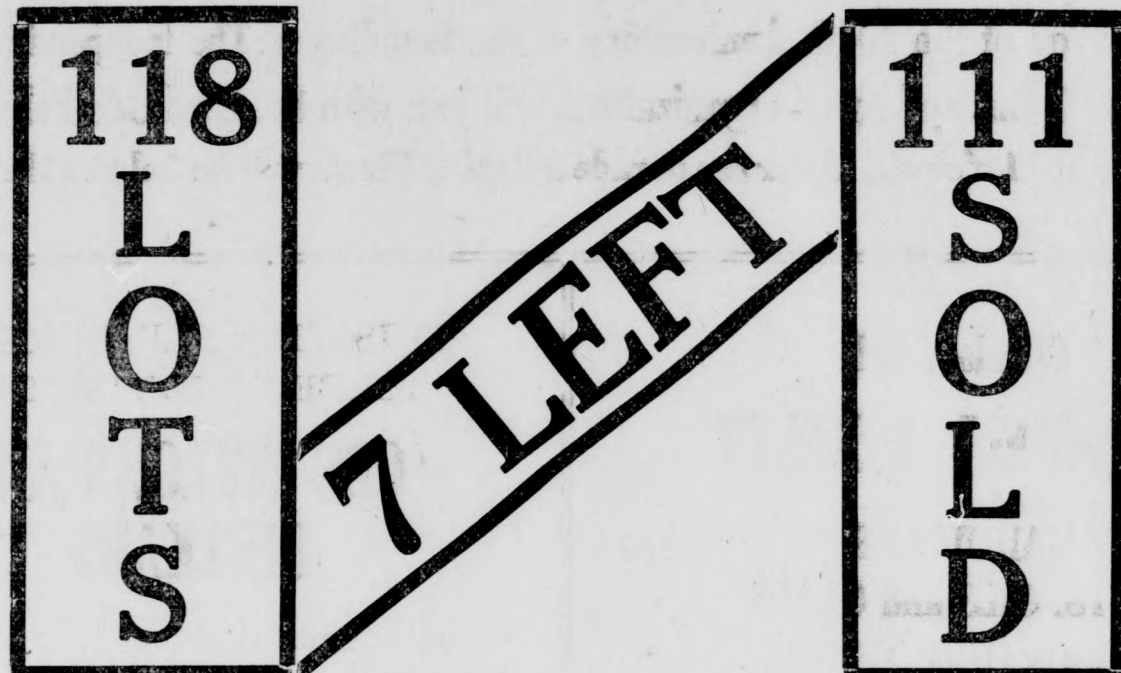

DEATHS-FUNERALS

MRS. AGNES F. WAECHTLER
Mrs. Agnes F. Waechtlar, who had many friends in Glendale, died this morning, Friday, April 27, 1923 at her home in Highland Park.

Mrs. Waechtlar was born in Germany November 1, 1867. She was 55 years of age and had resided in California for the past two and a half years. She is survived by her husband, Otto Waechtlar, her father, Otto Peisert of Chicago; a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Moore of Chicago; a sister, Mrs. Otilie Anders of San Francisco; and the following brothers: Reinhart Peisert of Los Angeles, George Peisert of Michigan, Herman Peisert and Rudolph Peisert of Chicago.

Funeral arrangements are being made by Keifer & Eyerick.

BURBANK

SIXTEEN HOUSES
BEING ERECTED

Frame Structures In Units of Four; Resale Market Active, Is Report

A building project of prime importance to Burbank, involving an investment in excess of $24,000, has been started on the Santa Rosa property, is the announcement made by Mrs. Clarke.

The project includes the erection of sixteen houses and twenty garages on the tract, facing Orange Grove avenue, where a frontage of 200 feet will be utilized.

The houses will be of frame, reports Mrs. Clarke, built in units of four. A row of ten garages will run along the north and south lines of the site, and adjoining them will be a row of four houses facing a thirty-foot court. The other two rows will run through the center of the grounds, with a ten-foot space between each, the rear on this space and the fronts on the thirty-foot court.

Ready By Fall

The style of architecture, it is given out, will be similar to that of the Santa Rosa, the units so constructed, however, as to be moved to less valuable property some time in the future.

The floor space of each unit is eighteen by twenty-four feet, with living-room, bedroom, kitchen, breakfast nook, bathroom and porches, with modern built-in features and a modern gas range.

H. Cortell, who is in charge of the work, states that he hopes to have it completed by September 1. Extensive plans for the artistic development of the grounds have been laid by Mrs. Clarke. Every tree on the property that can be preserved will be built around, she states. A fine tall palm tree has been transplanted and will occupy a space in the center of the ten-foot spaceway, which will be partly occupied with a cement walk.

The building line, it is reported, will be twenty feet from the sidewalk, and this space, twenty by two hundred feet, will be a rose garden.

The buildings will be finished in silver gray, with moss green roofs and trimmings. The Santa Rosa, it is announced by Mrs. Clarke, will be repainted to harmonize with the new units, and an ornamental woven wire fence will surround the entire grounds.

Residents of the district feel that this development will be a great improvement and will aid considerably in housing the steady stream of people who are pouring into Burbank, in search of residence locations.

Resale Market Active

San Fernando boulevard frontage is becoming very active, realty men report, and as evidence they give numerous instances where handsome profits have been made.

An oil station at the corner of Palm avenue was purchased three years ago, by Mr. Lloyd, for $7,000. Today this property could not be purchased for $20,000.

A corner at Scott and San Fernando sold in March, 1922, for $4,000. In February, 1923, it was bought for $7,500 and sold within thirty days for $11,000.

A N. Red lately sold three San Fernando boulevard lots, near Cypress, to realty men, at $125 a front foot, the realty men considering they have gotten a bargain.

Mrs. Thayer recently paid $10,000 for 132 feet frontage across the boulevard from the Benmar office.

W. D. Graves reports the sale of 132 feet near the above property for $12,000, the purchaser being Mr. Lester. Mr. Graves wishes now he had not sold, for a few days later $15,000 was offered on the property.

A frontage of 146 feet at Central avenue could have been bought three years ago for $4,500, but cannot now be bought for less than $22,000.

Option to Purchase

It is understood that the Benmar Hills company has obtained an option to purchase for $85,000 the twelve acres at the corner of Scott road, with 1,000 feet of boulevard frontage.

These are only a few of the many instances of rising values, say Burbank realty men. And not only along San Fernando boulevard but throughout the city, values are going steadily up, as more and more people come to realize the advantages of settling in that location, either with the view of building a home or going into business, or purely for speculation.

Three hundred thousand copies of one popular American novel will be sold this year, it is predicted.

More zinc and lead are mined from Missouri than from any other state in the Union.

DEATH OF MINER
DOOM TO CAMP

Highland City, Montana, One Time Noted Gold Center,
Now 'Ghost City'

BUTTE, Mont., April 27.—When Jack Kern, aged prospector and one of the founders of Highland City, Mont., died in his cabin recently, Highland City, one of the "ghost cities" of the west, lost its last resident.

With only his faithful dog, gaunt and weak from hunger, to keep a silent and sorrowful vigil by the side of his bunk, the body of Kern was found in his lonely cabin in the city long deserted. One of the first to arrive in this once thriving gold camp, he was also the last to "leave" and now only his dog "Shep" remains to mourn his passing.

With John Kern passes also into memory much of the early history of one of the territory's early gold-mining camps, and Highland City at last takes its place among the "ghost cities" of the west. Highland City is located in the Highland mountains, near the main range of the Rockies, about twenty-five miles south of Butte. It has an altitude of nearly 7,000 feet.

Once Thriving Town

Thousands once trod the streets of this almost forgotten camp, but its one remaining inhabitant has at last responded to the lure of the great "Bonanza."

Almost three-quarters of a century have elapsed since word went out that gold had been discovered in the highlands, south of Butte, Kern, then a young prospector, like many another of his type, answered the call to richer fields. He arrived with others, made his stake, and then the field began to play out. One by one those who had come in with him started back down the trail. But Kern had come to love the hills and mountains around the little camp they had called Highland City. Day by day he saw his friends depart, but he stayed on, ever in hope of striking it richer than any of the other strikes in the vicinity of the camp. His years of labor were partly rewarded when he uncovered what is declared to be the largest nugget ever discovered in Montana.

Staking out his claim, he labored on through the years. Some were fruitful, while others were not, but always he managed to extract enough gold from the mountains to supply him with his winter's grubstake. Hikers never passed his way without stopping for a chat with "Highland Jack," and many are the troops of Boy Scouts that have hiked miles over the mountains to sit around the campfire and listen to the tales of the early mining days told by this

Y.M.C.A. Students Take Course in Plastering

NEW YORK, April 27.—The dignity of overalls and the dinner pail has come into its own.

Time was when young men, inspired by pulpit, stage and press, dreamed of "white collar" careers. But those days are over. A "white collar" career too often means a job as clerk for $20 or $25 a week in some stuffy office doing routine work that takes the life out of a man.

Today the ideal offered to mankind is a thorough training in the mysteries of bricklaying and plastering. This at least pays from $12 to $15 a day.

The New York West Side Y. M. C. A. was quick to perceive wherein lay so many of the ills that beset thousands of young men, and, instead of offering to teach anything from archaeology to zoology, they advertised courses in the dignified and lucrative professions above mentioned.

Immediately the announcement was made 192 applicants doffed their white collars and patent leather slippers and took to overalls and a full dinner pail. Now there are over 300 students, and the class is growing rapidly.

Among the students who have relinquished "white collar" respectability and a too frequently empty stomach for more lucrative labor are university students, a former butler and a former broker who went down the ladder in a financial crash.

Tricked Into Marriage,
Wife Asks Divorce

ELYRIA, Ohio, April 27.—Claiming she did not know she was a party to a marriage ceremony, Tresa Olsowski has answered the petition for divorce filed by John Olsowski, of Lorain.

Tresa said she refused to live with John.

Stating that she cannot speak or understand English, Tresa told the court that she spurned his proposal when her husband proposed to her in the union depot at Cleveland. She charged that he then, on the pretext that they were going on a sight-seeing tour, took her to the probate court at Cleveland, where they secured a license and were married later. She said the license and marriage constituted a mystery to her.

Tresa alleged, further, that John shipped her trunk to Lorain and kept it. About $400 worth of clothes were in the trunk, she said.

Ranchers Find Body

Ranchers passing through the old deserted mining camp, with its straggling streets and stained and dilapidated buildings, with windowless jambs vacantly staring like eyeless sockets of skulls, found the old prospector dead in his bed. The stiffness of death pervaded the atmosphere. The last resident of the abandoned and deserted city had "deserted."

At the side of his bunk lay his old dog, who for years had been his faithful companion when he roamed through the mountains. With his head resting on his paws he lay stretched out beside the bunk, waiting for the familiar whistle of his master which would no more call him forth to his day's hunt.

Kern was buried in the old cemetery of Highland City, in accordance with a wish often expressed. He was buried by Boy Scouts, under the auspices of the Butte Council.

FACES STUDIED

Balanced Features Indicate Best Kind of People to Trust, They Say

By HORACE M. COATS
For International News Service

CHICAGO, April 27.—When a credit man studies physiognomy it isn't to tell Maizie that the bumps of her head indicate she will marry a millionaire, but it is to determine whether John Jones will "come through" when his monthly bills fall due. J. F. O'Keefe, secretary of the Chicago Association of Credit Men, told members of the Illinois Associations of Credit Men at a recent meeting here.

"The study of physiognomy is absolutely essential," O'Keefe said. "The man with the massive brow isn't the man who will meet his bills promptly. That's the dead-beat type. The man with the heavy jaw will forget about his statement when he wants to go out and spend his money on a good time."

"The good credit risk is the man with a balanced face." The credit men, optimists by experience, reverse the opinion held by many. They say that 99 per cent of us are honest. Most folks are perfectly certain that just exactly that number are crooked.

But the credit men take a slight rap at Mr. Man. They say the best business risks are women. They say the women are dependable in business and won't lie about their assets.

"A woman is less resourceful in business," they declare, "but a man can think of more ways to beat his creditors than a bootlegger can of diluting his gin."

Lights on the Border

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

"I thought" Ed Wylie commented with mock disgust, "you said we were going into the wilderness. Already I have seen mountain cabins lighted with electricity and at least one blazed pretty girl."

Captain Stewart smiled. "There are pretty girls wherever you go and why shouldn't they have electric lights? It is in this country that power is harnessed. The big cities below get their juice from these streams."

"All the same," Ed remarked as he looked across a clearing at the home of Edith Larsen, "there is something about that girl that is queer."

"Wasn't it agreed there would be no detective stunts?"

"One can speculate, can't he? I am saying that the girl is out of this picture. She does not dress nor act like the daughter of a poor farmer and her dad keeps hidden most of the time. How do you suppose he makes enough money to keep her looking like that? Why is she content to stay? I'd give a lot to see the inside of that house."

"Think there is a still there, don't you? Well, there isn't—for no one has visited the place, at least in the daytime."

"That's it. What goes on at night? I did think it was a still, but that would mean wagons would have to drive up for the stuff and there are no fresh tracks. If anybody comes it is on foot. How far is this from Canada?"

"If it is smuggling," the captain answered, reading the other's thoughts, "you will have to remember that is outside our jurisdiction."

"All the same, I'm going to sit up tonight and keep watch to see what goes on."

Ed sat in a chair tipped against the cabin and watched the other house across the clearing. The light burned steadily and the young man noticed the house was so situated that it could be seen down the valley. There had been a light there every evening—there would have to be one—Heil!

The light was behaving strangely. No, it was another light. From the window came flashes, intermittent. Ed could see the girl moving—more flashes. It was a code.

It took but a moment to rouse the captain and the two watched. The flashes stopped.

"Pretty hold, I call it, to try a thing like that. They must have counted us as simple or asleep. Yet what can we do?"

"I'm going to go over there and see how low, wait for the fellow to come, if that is what the signals meant. He's going to bring something over the line mark my words."

Cautiously Ed crept up to the neighboring house. It was almost pitch dark and there was no noise except the hooting of owls. For a long time Ed listened wondering why an owl always hoots three times.

"The first one," he decided, "is a sort of clearing of the throat, the second is a trial note, and the third is the finished product." A stick cracked behind the lad and he jumped as if a gun had gone off. A tall figure loomed out of the shadow and Ed was seized.

"What you doing, 'augin' round here? By gar, I think I beat you up!" It was the father of the girl, a giant of a man. Ed must act quickly.

"No you don't," he bluffed. "I am an officer. I saw signals from that window and you are next to the border. If you don't explain it will go hard with you."

The word "officer" had its effect, but the man did not relax his hold.

"Signals from the window?"

The man spoke as if puzzled. "You saw signals while I was gone? I think you lie."

Ed was dragged to the cabin door.

"I bring a man," the father called, and there was a sound of scurrying inside. When they entered no one was to be seen.

"Wait," the big man said. At the end of a long five minutes the girl appeared.

"I catch him hiding behind the bush. I think I am going to lick him. He says he saw signals from the window and I am a crook. Have you signal someone or does he lie?"

The father's grip tightened on Ed's arm and he knew his safety depended upon the answer. The girl looked puzzled.

"They were flashes of light. You made them," Ed tried to speak calmly, to let her know he was certain. A light broke on her face and she motioned to her father. Then she left the room.

When the girl returned it was to listen an elaborate nickel-plated electric comb to a socket.

"I use this when dad is gone," she explained. "He calls it foolishness. See how it reflects the light!" Ed was crestfallen and relieved at once, for the grip on his shoulder was removed. The man chuckled.

"A smuggler, eh? Well, next time you fellows catch fish, bring him over. My daughter will show you how they ought to be cooked."

Both listened to Ed's departing footfalls, then the girl said: "That was pretty close. You must not go after another load until they go. It was lucky, wasn't it. I had that comb?"

The big man was emptying his pockets into a box which he had pulled from a hole under the floor. Tomorrow—Norman Pulk he was.

It was a tiny salary then (as so many newlyweds' salaries are), but I made a rule, from the start, that I would never buy a single thing (for furnishings or personal dress) without thinking it over for twenty-four hours! It was hard to do—but I did it. I'd go down street to the stores and see a 'bargain' in house furnishings, and just long to buy it; then I'd remember my rule, and I'd go home and think it over—generally ending in the sensible decision that I didn't really need that article. DESIGNS FOR THE NEW WOOLENS

The new season's wooleens are inclined to favor the all-one color idea, with the novelty introduced in the weave. Fascinating examples are the French matelasses, the fine twills with woven patterns, the wool rations and crepes. Either may be used for the first dress pictured with its graceful straight lines. The front is slashed, then closed against and held together with fancy buttons. Above the bust a vest of lace is disclosed, and there are undercuffs to correspond with the lace. Grosgrain ribbon may take the place of lace, if preferred. Medium size requires 3 1/2 yards 40-inch material.

Panel is so assertive, that they refuse to be restrained by even two girdles, so, in the second design, the side panels with pointed lower edges prefer to be folded over the twin-belt of self-material. Braid functions as the trimming, but, if preferred, the long, narrow vestee may be of brocade silk, lace or one of the handsome new ribbons. Medium size requires 4 1/4 yards 40-inch crepe, tulle or tulle.

FIVE QUESTIONS FOR MIDDLE AGE

"Nothing is more disgraceful than that an old man should have nothing to show that he has lived long except his years."—Seneca.

Of course you are not old. I would not for the world suggest such a thing. People so self-dom are old—only to be some day. One of my best friends is a man of 72 who often says what he will do "when I am an old man."

But you must admit that you are getting a little older each year. And if you do not want to run any risk of meriting Seneca's reproach you ought to be storing up "something to show that you have lived long besides your years." Are you?

What We Lose

As we grow old we unquestionably lose some beautiful qualities. We lose some of the enthusiasm of youth, some of its divine hopefulness, some of its passionate belief that the world can be made right by this or that reform. BEAUTY CHATS

EDNA KENT FORBES

WELL STAPED HIPS

Any woman who is getting old, any woman who has had a baby, or any woman who has a tendency to be too fat should take particular care that the hips and abdomen do not become too large. This is a part of the body where flesh is most apt to collect. A thick line here will make the whole figure matronly, so that even a young face cannot give the impression of entire youthfulness.

The most usual remedy which a woman adopts is corseting, and the larger she grows the more tightly she laces. Unfortunately, this isn't a cure. The only real cure lies in diet and exercise. The best exercise is to stand with the hands on the hips and to bend forward as far as possible a dozen or more times, always keeping the spine straight. Follow this by bending first to the left, then to the right, a dozen or more times, keeping the body from the waist down as motionless as possible. This can be followed by what is sometimes called a trunk circling exercise, which is a combination of the two above, a swinging round and round of the whole upper half of the body.

This should be done every day. This special form of exercise will also make thin hips well shaped, so is of as much benefit to the thin woman as to the stout one. All exercise is a corrective. Needless to say, this should be done without a corset and without any sort of restrictive clothing.

To achieve the ideal you should keep your figure so slender and well knit that you can dispense with corsets entirely. This exercise will help you to do so. It will also help strengthen the digestion, a thing that reacts beneficially upon the complexion.

CHAPTER LIV Diarrhea of Babies

Last week we told you about the mechanical and fermentative diarrhea of babies. This week Doctor wants me to tell you a little of the putrefactive and infectious types, the other diarrheas that are listed in the general class of diarrheas of babies. Let me repeat now, mamas, if your baby has a severe diarrhea which does not clear up with simple measures, you should not delay in seeing a baby specialist.

There is another thing we must warn you about, mamas, and that is not to give opium as in paregoric or in any other form, or anything that will check the diarrhea and lock the irritating substances which are causing the diarrhea in the baby's system. Sometimes physicians prescribe paregoric after the bowels have been thoroughly cleaned out, but it should not be given except under the advice of your physician.

We young babies, especially those of us who have our own mamas' milk, seldom have the putrefactive diarrhea. The older babies, those that are getting larger quantities of milk and are on some solid foods, are the ones who are more liable to have this type if they are overtired or unsuitable food is given them.

The bowel movements of the putrefactive diarrhea, instead of smelling very sour, as they do in the fermentative type, smell very foul. This diarrhea is a more severe type, usually, than the fermentative.

Are You More or Less Tolerant? Do you grow older? Or does your vision grow narrower, your prejudices grow stronger? If you will let it, life will widen your vision. It is only necessary to grow old to become more charitable and even indulgent," says Goethe. "I see no fault committed by others that I have not committed myself." Surely this must have been a successful old age.

Are you growing a bit more patient each year. It is inevitably a little sad to lose the beautiful eagerness and hopefulness of with babies under four months, it should not be used longer than that. Even in strong or well-nourished babies Dennett advises us never to use it longer than four days.

Sometimes when the baby has diarrhea and it does not respond to the plan one-third milk and water boiled together, such as we told you to give for the fermentative diarrhea, then the gruel treatment can be tried. Porter and Carter advise some milk sugar boiled in this gruel mixture (one and one-half ounces; this would be four and one-half level tablespoons of the full strength mixture). This would make the formula have more food value and would be better for the babies who are under-nourished.

The infectious diarrheas are treated the same as the putrefactive diarrhea. Almost always there is a high temperature in these infectious cases. The stools are usually green and watery and sometimes frothy on account of the gas, and they contain mucus, curds and undigested foods. In this diarrhea there should be a starvation period, when nothing but unsweetened water is given for twelve to twenty-four hours. Then a gruel may be given for a day, or perhaps two. Then the milk and water feedings are begun after the bowels have been cleaned out.

Irritating the lower bowels with warm normal salt solution injections (one tablespoonful to a quart of water) is a very helpful measure once or twice a day.

Next week I'll tell you how to do this, mamas, and something about the diarrhea, cholera infantum.

Au revoir.

Realize what Kellogg's Bran means to your family's health?

Eaten regularly each day, Kellogg's Bran will permanently relieve constipation; it will free you from dangerous toxic poisons that lead to 90% of all human illness; it will remove the cause and sweeten a bad breath; it will clear a pimply complexion through its work on the bowels. In fact, Kellogg's Bran, through its natural action as a bulk, indigestible agent, will tune-up the whole system!

If you knew exactly what constipation means from a medical viewpoint you would lose no time eating Kellogg's Bran yourself and serving it daily to your family. And, Kellogg's is actually delicious, its nut-like flavor adding greatly to the enjoyment of eating cereals. Eat at least two tablespoons each day; in chronic cases, with each meal.

There are many attractive ways to serve Kellogg's Bran. Eat it in winter with hot milk as a cereal. Or, mix it with cereals before serving. Many housewives cook it with cereals, in each case adding two tablespoons for each person. You will also enjoy the nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran when it has been sprinkled over hot or cold cereals.

You have missed some of the joys of life if you have not eaten raisin bread, muffins, griddle-cakes, etc., made with Kellogg's Bran. Recipes are printed on each box.

Don't delay your fight against constipation; don't lose a minute in the great battle against illness! You can buy Kellogg's Bran from all grocers and you can have it served in individual packages at first-class hotels, restaurants and clubs.

KARR IS CHOSEN HEAD OF ROTARY

Details of Loyalty Parade Told at Luncheon of Organization

The annual election of officers of the Glendale Rotary club, that was held at the weekly luncheon in the Citizens building yesterday, resulted in George B. Karr being elected president, to succeed Roy L. Kent, with W. E. Hewitt, the defeated candidate, offering a motion to make the vote unanimous in favor of Mr. Karr. The other officers elected were J. H. Smith, vice-president; R. E. Olin, secretary; J. L. Wernette, treasurer, and Rev. Ernest Ford and William Hunter, directors. Thirty-four ballots were cast.

R. E. Tucker, representing the Community Service, asked for the appointment of a committee from the Rotary club to help in judging the entries that are to be made by the boys of the city in the Kite Day events, to be held on Saturday, May 5, at the high school grounds. The contest is open to every boy, and prizes will be offered in different classes, the winner of the highest number of points to be given a cup.

The secretary was instructed to write a letter to Mrs. Nanno Woods conveying to her the appreciation of the Rotary club for the excellent program that she and the members of the Community Players presented in The Fun Revue, which was staged last week, and which is to be given again on Thursday, May 3, at the high school.

President Roy L. Kent and the heads of various committees reported on the progress that had been made in arranging for the Boys' Loyalty Parade that is to be held today. The parade will be headed by two police officers, then come the pupils from the schools, with the high school band and floats, the parade to wind up at the Glendale theatre where a program will be presented for the entertainment of the boys. Each school in the parade will be sponsored by some member of the Rotary club, and other members will be on hand to help manage the affair and to render whatever services may be necessary. Following the business session Richardson D. White took charge of the program and presented an automobile program, consisting of songs, yells, backing up races, radiator filling races, peanut races and hoop races that kept the house in an uproar.

LOGGERS ON STRIKE
PORTLAND, Ore., April 27.—Although 1,000 loggers in the northwest are said to have obeyed the I. W. W. order for a general strike, lumbermen today contended that the number represented but 25 per cent of the workers and that the strike will have no serious effect on the lumber industry.

First day activities were centered chiefly in Washington state camps. Close to 1,000 loggers left their work in Willapa harbor district and at Gray's Harbor a similar number are said to have walked out. Logging operations are reported curtailed at Everett and South Bend. At Klamath Falls, Ore., 200 loggers dropped their tools.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache Often Means
You Have Not Been Drinking Enough Water

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and clog. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Advertisement.

PACKARD AGENCY IS OPENED HERE

W. H. Daniel Plans to Open Glendale Showrooms
Saturday Morning

The opening of an agency here for the sale of Packard automobiles marks the entry into the Glendale territory of another of the big firms in the motor business and shows the confidence with which the leading manufacturers regard the prospects for business here.

The formal opening of the local agency, which has been secured by W. H. Daniel, will be held at the showrooms at 510 East Broadway, beginning tomorrow, Saturday, April 28, and will continue for three days. Mr. Daniel already has his demonstration car here and he has also a stripped chassis on display to show the manner in which the worth of the Packard name and reputation is built into every nut and bolt in the machine. He has also been assured that deliveries of cars ordered by Glendale purchasers will be promptly made.

The territory allotted to Mr. Daniel extends from this side of Pasadena to Burbank and embraces some of the wealthiest sections of Southern California, so that he is confident of doing a steady and profitable business right from the start of his operations here. He has moved his family to Glendale and is making his home here in a city that he regards as the finest in the Southland.

Mr. Daniel was for years connected with the Packard organization in the southern states and knows the car and its merits from start to finish.

Boston Family Needs $1787 Yearly Income

BOSTON, April 27.—It requires at least $1,787.96 for the average Boston family to exist a year, according to estimates of leading local social workers made public by the Boston Family Welfare Society and the Department of Social Ethics at Harvard jointly.

This estimate is based on the standard taken for the "average family" of five persons, including husband, wife, two sons and a daughter. On this income the family can afford something more than a bare existence and the amount will provide health, decency and comfort and make possible the "maintenance of self-respect."

Itemized the list proves the following: The husband is assured of one $22 suit each year, one overcoat (40 per cent wool) every three years, three nightshirts (which the wife must cut and make), one clean collar a week, the cheapest straw hat on the market if he makes it last two seasons.

The wife must make her $25 coat and one silk shirtwaist run two winters, must be satisfied with one pair of corsets 12 months and make for the rest of the family or herself petticoats, shirtwaists, wash dresses, aprons, blouses, night clothes, garters and wash suits as well as underwear for the six-year-old boy.

Industrial Outlook Bright in Bulgaria

SOFIA, April 27.—Bulgaria's financial and industrial outlook has been considerably brightened as the result of an agreement on reparations which has just been concluded between the Allied Reparations Commission and the Bulgarian Government.

The effect of the agreement has been to greatly reduce the total amount of reparations Bulgaria must pay, coupled with an adjustment of terms that is regarded as highly beneficial to Bulgaria. The agreement generally has met with approval throughout the country.

Under the agreement now concluded the total reparations Bulgaria will pay has been fixed at 500,000,000 gold francs. This total must be paid over a period of six years. For the first ten years of that term no interest is to be paid, but after ten years interest is to be assessed at 5 per cent.

Communication of the agreement has resulted in the strengthening of the position of Premier Alexander Stambolisky.

PLAN AGREEMENT

LONDON, April 27.—Proposals for an international agreement for joint action in the event of a strike involving coal miners' unions in the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy, Germany and Czechoslovakia were under consideration here today. They grew out of the international conference of miners in Brussels. It is possible an agreement may be drawn up before the departure of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, on Thursday.

Indians Stage Dance For Red Debutantes

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Aristocratic modern society, with its "coming out parties" for debutantes, has nothing on the Washoe Indians of Nevada, who have a unique dance given to every young girl of the tribe publicly announcing she is ready for marriage, according to a report received by Secretary of the Interior Work from the Superintendent of the Reno Indian reservation in Nevada.

TODAY—Chicago is a veritable Klondike for "gold diggers," according to the version of a young woman who has tried it, reports John D. Mueller.

TOMORROW—Decline of "jazz mania" in the United States within a short time and quality music will supersede it, predicts musicians who recently assembled in Kansas City, writes Douglas G. Tinsley.

DAILY NEWS LETTER

For International News Service

CHICAGO, April 27.—The hard-earned old two-fisted gold seeker of the Yukon who made history and fortune as he penetrated the wilds of a trackless wilderness a few decades ago probably would be somewhat surprised should he meet the gold prospector of today. In his time the fellow who went out after gold went dressed for wear and tear. He went clad in knee boots, mackinaw and coarse shirt. His tools were a pick and a pan. His rations were the most coarse.

The prospector of today begins her night's work by dabbing a bit of powder on her nose, blackening her eyebrows, rouging her lips and, perhaps, twisting a "spit curl" into shape. The mackinaw has been replaced by a sable coat. The pick is replaced by a vanity case. In the place of a grin of grim determination has come a winsome smile, breathing the fragrance of fairy perfume. The modern gold digger dines in luxury—she very frequently wines, too, despite the Volstead law. And she goes no farther than Chicago.

This city, according to Miss Pearl Grondel, 22-year-old fashion model and divorcee, formerly of Grand Rapids, Mich., is a "gold digger's" paradise—a veritable Klondike for the pretty, shapely girl who is willing to cast aside a few rules of staid convention to "enjoy life." And, according to Miss Grondel, who was a figure in the case of Robert Goodman, an alleged absconding cashier returned here from Los Angeles, "It's all very simple," once you know how.

"Chicago," pretty Pearl asserted with toss of head, "is the greatest 'gold digging' city in the world. 'Daddies' are waiting here on every corner, just for the picking. All that's needed is a pretty face and smile."

A girl friend, learning the opportunities for the gold digger found on every side in this city, Pearl said, was responsible for her coming to Chicago to "look it over." This girl, Pearl told her hearers with a smile, "looked as if she had just stepped out of a fashion magazine and had more diamonds than fingers." Harkening to this friend's claims that she was "too pretty to be wasting time in this burg," Pearl came to Chicago, she said. "A week after I arrived I was getting about fourteen dinner engagements nightly," she said in recounting her debut as a gold digger. "In two weeks I had my own apartment."

"It's a great town, all right. It's my home from now on. It's the gold digger's Klondike."

Behind the walls of the state penitentiary at Stillwater, Minn., Peter N. Mathiason, "lifer," is paying for the murder of a "pal" and business partner. Mathiason, a former lumberman, murdered while intoxicated. In the prison he gets three "squares" a day and doesn't need the wages paid him by the state for his labor. So he sent the money to the Salvation Army here.

Mathiason's check, "one of the biggest in years," was for $50 and represented, according to a letter accompanying the check, the wages paid him for 143 days of toil.

"It isn't much," he wrote, "but it may help to give six poor families a good meal. And I don't need it here."

The money, Commissioner William Pearl of the Salvation Army here, asserted, was used for the purpose requested by Mathiason.

Chicago's bootleggers are going to find the going considerably rougher in the future, according to John E. Early, chief field agent for the federal service here. Judges here are too lenient with offenders, an investigation revealed, according to Early. This condition is the basis of the new policy to be put into effect by the federal agents. Hereafter, under the plans of the federal prohibition unit, persons arrested and fined in municipal courts here for liquor law violations will be rearrested on federal warrants and haled into federal court. There they will be fined under the federal statute. This, Early believes, will prove an aid in reducing liquor violations here.

RUNABOUT WAR SEARCHLIGHTS

Since the war our military experts have busied themselves in developing mobile searchlights, which, during the recent conflict in Europe, proved exceedingly useful even, on occasions, to blind with their glare an enemy force advancing to the attack.

To make the army searchlight mobile, the first step was to put it on an auto-truck. But presently it was found much more satisfactory to mount the apparatus on a wheeled carriage of its own. And the next and latest improvement is to carry the carriage and searchlight in an automobile equipped with an engine to generate electricity for the light.

One should understand that an up-to-date military searchlight is a huge concave glass mirror, circular in shape, which concentrates into a powerful beam the rays of an electric arc light. In some cases, for battle work, the glass is replaced by a polished mirror, which will stand more or less knocking about. A single well-aimed rifle bullet, of course, might put a glass searchlight out of commission.

Very interesting is the new "tower searchlight," which is mounted on a railroad car, its supporting platform, thirty feet above the ground, upheld by a skeleton framework of steel. When out of use, the whole affair lies prone upon the car—on its back, as one might say. If wanted for service, it can be erected in a few moments.

Heavy counterweights make it easy to throw the tower into its erect position. A mechanical arrangement keeps the platform always horizontal, so that the men assigned to operate the searchlight can step upon the platform from the floor of the case and be hoisted into the air as the tower assumes the vertical.

This kind of searchlight is meant particularly for work along the seacoast. Before long we are to have strategic railroads running along our coasts, and connecting one with another the forts that defend our harbors and river-mouths. Trains carrying heavy rifled guns (for use at any point where defense may be needed) will travel over them; and, obviously, it is of utmost importance that these formidable weapons shall be supplemented by searchlights for night duty.

A "unit" of this type—meaning by that term a complete outfit—comprises two cars: one, on which the tower reclinable or is erected, and another (behind), which is equipped with gasoline engines. These engines generate electricity for the searchlight arc, and also to propel the two cars when it and wheels are housed beneath the cover-top of a big automobile with a truck body, resting upon the chassis. The automobile (as already stated) is provided with machinery for generating electricity.

When the searchlight is wanted for use, it is dismounted by a winch, which permits it to run down a pair of "ramps" (serving the purpose of an inclined plane), so placed as to accommodate themselves to the wheels. Having thus reached the ground, the wheeled searchlight may, if desired, be drawn away to a distance of some hundreds of feet from the automobile, and yet receive from the latter (through a cable) the electricity for its dazzling arc.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE PLAY SNOW

Once upon a time, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping through the woods not far from his hollow stump bungalow, he heard a voice saying:

"I'm the Indian and I must catch you and carry you off to my wigwam!"

"My goodness!" thought the rabbit gentleman to himself. "Am I going to be caught by an Indian?"

Mr. Longears looked about for a place to hide, but he could see no hollow tree nor hollow stump, and he was getting ready to hop away as best he could when another voice said:

"I'm a big, shaggy wild bear and I'll chase you!"

"Oh, this is getting worse and worse!" sighed the poor bunny rabbit gentleman. "Where did the Indian and bear come from?" But before he could run away, out of a little leafy bower in the woods came scampering Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, the puppy dog boys.

"Oh, Jackie and Peetie!" cried Uncle Wiggily, "did you see the Indian and the bear? Are they coming after me?"

To Uncle Wiggily's surprise Jackie and Peetie began to laugh.

"There isn't any Indian," barked Jackie. "I just said that for fun, and Peetie said he was a shaggy bear. You see, we're getting ready to have a little play, like a moving picture, Uncle Wiggily, and in the play I'm an Indian and Peetie's a bear."

"Then there isn't any real Indian?" asked the bunny, his pink nose not twinkling quite so fast now. "Or real bear?"

"Not at all," laughed Peetie. "But say, Jackie," he went on to his brother, "maybe Uncle Wiggily could help us in the snow-storm scene."

"Help you in the snow-storm?" exclaimed the bunny rabbit. "Why, can you have a snow-storm in April, even in a moving picture? Of course, it has snowed in April," admitted Uncle Wiggily, "but not very often. I can't make snow for you doggie boys."

"Oh, yes, you can," said Jackie. "You can help us make some play snow, and that's all we want for the pretend moving picture."

"What do you mean—play snow?" asked Uncle Wiggily wonderingly.

"It's like this," exclaimed Peetie. "You see I'm supposed to be a wild, shaggy bear. I'm in the woods and I chase Jackie, who is a play wild Indian, you know. And then comes a snowstorm, and the Indian (that's Jackie) gets lost in the snow. The bear (that's me) sniffs around and finds the Indian (that's Jackie), but instead of biting him, the bear (that's me) snuggles down in the snow and warms the Indian (that's Jackie) and keeps him from freezing."

"It's a dandy moving picture," said Jackie, "but we need some play snow, and if you were to take a lot of chips of white birch bark, Uncle Wiggily, and scatter them

"I'll fool that Bob Cat! I'll scatter a lot of play snow over toward him and he may think it's real, and he'll be so afraid of being caught out in the snowstorm this time of year that he'll run away."

No sooner said than done! Turning around, Uncle Wiggily scattered some of the birch bark snow toward the Bob Cat.

As the sneaking chap saw the white flakes sifting toward him, the Bob Cat howled:

"Oh, my goodness! It's snowing! Oh, I'll catch my death of cold! I must run home and get Uncle Wiggily some other time when it isn't snowing!" And away ran the Bob Cat.

Uncle Wiggily, Jackie and Peetie laughed when they saw him run, and then the doggie boys played moving pictures some more with the pretend snow and they had lots of fun with Mr. Longears.

And if the ice cream cone doesn't try to stand on its head and spill the rice pudding all over the gold fish, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the balloon.

RESISTANCE AND CONDUCTANCE

In a previous article of the present series we showed by the analogy of friction in a pipe wherein a stream of water was flowing that a similar condition exists in a circuit of electricity. The flow of current through a circuit is opposed by a property of the circuit called its resistance, which is usually designated in diagrams by the symbol R. This resistance is determined by the kinds or materials of which the circuit is made up, and also by the form—that is, length and cross section of the various portions of the circuit. Provided that the current is constant, not varying with the current flowing through the circuit. This important relation is called Ohm's law, and will be discussed in a later article.

All substances may be grouped according to their ability to conduct electricity. Those through which current passes readily are called "conducting materials," or conductors, while those through which current passes with great difficulty, in fact hardly at all, are called "conducting materials," for "insulators" and "non-conductors." However, there is no known substance which admits current without any opposition whatever, nor is there any known substance through which some small current cannot be made to pass. There is no sharp distinction between the two groups as they merge gradually one into the other. Nevertheless it should be borne in mind that conductors have a conducting power which is enormously greater than the conducting power of an insulator. The minute current which can be forced through an insulator under certain circumstances is called "leakage current." An ideal insulator would be one which would allow absolutely no current to flow. Examples of good conductors are metals and liquids, conductors of a class known as "electrolytes."

Examples of good insulators are dry gases, glass, porcelain, hard

FOOTHILL SITES LURE BUYERS

Last of Suburban Heights
Lots Will Be Sold In Next Two Days

The culmination of Glendale's greatest sale of choice residential lots will take place next Saturday and Sunday, at the same prices and terms that have already brought hundreds of buyers to Suburban Heights.

"The people of Glendale, always alert to a bargain, have most certainly registered their appreciation of our big subdivision project and the specially attractive terms which we have been able to arrange," said Alfred R. Johnson, sales manager of the Suburban Realty Company, owners and subdividers of the property.

"Home-builders, investors and speculators have all purchased some of the magnificent scenic homesites that we are offering in close proximity to the famous Brand's Castle. Among some of the well-known buyers, are Messrs L. C. Brand, president of the Title Insurance & Trust Co., H. Victor Wright, secretary of Brock & Co. Jewelers, Los Angeles; Charles Blacklaw, secretary of Walter K. Parkinson, Oil Interests; C. E. Case of the Citizens Trust & Savings bank; A. W. Hutchinson; Mrs. E. L. Hoyt; E. J. Warren and H. E. Tryday. Everyone on these business people are keen buyers. They fully appreciate the wonderful possibilities for exclusive homesites in this especially desirable section of Glendale's most famous beauty spot. At the same time they realize that a tremendous increase in value must come in only a very short time.

Buyers Are Pleased
"Buyers from all parts have expressed their pleasure with the location of Suburban Heights, in no manner. Many have declared that, as a beauty spot, containing scenery, climate, accessibility, surroundings and exclusiveness, there is nothing within fifty miles of Los Angeles to compare with Suburban Heights.

"We are holding our wind-up sale of the remaining half of Suburban Heights, Unit No. 2, tomorrow and Sunday," concluded Mr. Johnson. "The same generous terms and prices will prevail and after the week-end business we feel certain that we will have nothing left to offer our Los Angeles clients."

Mrs. Phillips Arrested Is Belief Of Husband

LOS ANGELES, April 27.—Almost positive confirmation that the woman held under provisional arrest at Tegucigalpa, Honduras, as Clara Phillips, "hammer murderer," was believed to have been established today when Dr. M. F. Rodriguez, Honduran consul here, stated he had received a request from his government to rush the necessary papers for the "tiger woman" to be returned to California.

Breaking the silence he has maintained since the reported capture of his wife, Phillips admitted with reluctance, that the woman arrested in Tegucigalpa may be Mrs. Phillips.

"I'm sorry to admit it, but I guess they have my wife, all right," Phillips said. "I'm sorry to admit it."

An indictment against Jesse Carson, Mrs. Phillips' alleged traveling companion in Honduras, charging him with arson was to be presented before the county grand jury today.

Strap Hanging Good, Says London Doctor

LONDON, April 27.—No matter what your pet aversion is, if you live long enough you will find out it's good for you. Now comes Sir Bruce Porter one of England's most famous physicians, saying strap-hanging is beneficial. It exercises the arms and legs alike, he says. "And, besides, there is the mental pleasure of realizing our gallantry when we give our seat to a tired girl or woman."

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

You can turn gray, faded hair back to dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound to-night and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.—Advertisement.

NEW RECORD SET IN TAX RECEIPTS

Southern California District Is Showing Increase in Revenue Returns

All records for the collection of internal revenue taxes which originate from sources reflecting southern California business conditions were shattered, according to figures given out yesterday by Collector Rex Goodcell.

Increases ranging from twenty-seven per cent to ninety-eight per cent were the rule, with manufacturers' excise tax collections as a whole showing a gain of fifty-seven per cent as compared with March of last year. Here are the "big gain" figures:

Increase of forty-six per cent in tax paid by retail dealers on sales of jewelry, representing sales of $1,223,000.

Increase of ninety-eight per cent in manufacturers' tax collected on non-alcoholic beverages, representing sales of 1,625,000 gallons.

Increase of thirty-four per cent in tax paid on candy by manufacturers.

Increase of forty-five per cent in tax paid by manufacturers on tires and automobile accessories, representing sales of $1,159,900.

Increase of eighty-seven per cent in tax paid by manufacturers on auto trucks.

Increase of thirty-four per cent in tax paid by manufacturers on motorcycles, etc.

Increase of sixty-nine per cent in tax paid on dues and memberships to social clubs.

Amusement Tax
Increase of twenty-seven per cent in taxes collected for admissions to theatres and other places of amusement, indicating a tax paid and tax-free attendance of 15,000,000 and receipts of $3,500,000.

Increase of eighty-one per cent in tax paid on oleomargarine by manufacturers.

Increase of seventy-three per cent in sales of stamps that are used on capital stock transfers, bonds, conveyances, etc.

Estate tax receipts for March are $137,672.35 compared with $11,549.59 for March, 1922.

Offers of compromise submitted by bootleggers showed an increase of 932 per cent.

Collector Goodcell explained that monthly increases in tax receipts were being registered in the face of the fact that the new revenue bill reduced taxes in the southern California district $15,000,000 a year, and that the government relied upon increased production and sale of taxable commodities and to general expansion in business to furnish new tax that would offset the big reductions provided for.

BANDITS GET $50
LOS ANGELES, April 27.—Bandits broke into the office of the Stavnow Furniture company in South Main street, and after breaking open a safe escaped with $50, according to a report to the police. Entrance was gained by the bandits through a rear window opening onto an alley. When the bandits reached the office they opened the safe, a small one, by smashing the lock. There was only $50 in the strong box.

CALLED FALSE ISSUE
MADISON, Wis., April 27.—"The world court may serve as a false issue in the next presidential campaign," Senator Robert M. La Follette declared in a survey of the political situation, which appeared in today's issue of his magazine. "The real issue is the 'system' control of the government of the nation. Two per cent of our population owns 65 per cent of our wealth."

Betting in England totals $500,000,000 a year.

MEXICO FUTURE LIVESTOCK FIELD

Range Cattle Industry To Be Leading Business Soon, Say U. S. Visitors

By DOUGLAS G. TINSLEY
For International News Service
KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 27.

A vast, potential market for purebred cattle, swine and sheep awaits American livestock breeders in Mexico, according to a delegation of animal husbandry experts who returned to the United States early in April from a visit of inspection which included attendance at an exhibition of American purebred livestock in the City of Mexico.

The Mexican market will not offer an immediate outlet, however, say members of the delegation. Internal political conditions must become settled and a stable government must exercise control over numerous outlaw bands before the potentially great range cattle industry of Mexico can hit its stride. Mexican ranch owners are now afraid to purchase registered purebreds for their herds, because roving bands of outlaws and plunderers steal and kill livestock almost at will. Millions of acres of grazing land, which might be carrying stock now lie in idleness because protection is not available.

Improvement Tendency
Nearer the cities, where police protection may be had and where there is a demand for milk and pork, breeders find a limited demand for purebred dairy cattle and hogs, it is said. Encouraging prospects for the sheep industry were also observed. But the range cattle industry, which is potentially the greatest of all, will suffer until stability in political and military affairs is accomplished.

Purebred Hereford, Shorthorn and Holstein cattle, Poland-China and Duroc-Jersey hogs and Rambouillet sheep were shown by American breeders at the livestock exposition in Mexico City. The exposition was held under the management of the Mexican Auxiliary of Purebred Registry associations of the United States. According to R. J. Kinzer of the American Hereford Cattle Breeders' association, who represented the Hereford organization at the exposition, twenty-five head of registered Herefords were purchased for use in Mexico, at prices ranging from $200 to $400 a head.

Fine Grazing Land
"Between the Sierra Madre mountains on the west and the coastal mountains on the east," says Kinzer, "there are millions of acres of land in Mexico similar to our own range country. The average altitude is about 4,000 feet, and the average ranch has from 50,000 to 500,000 acres on which grows native grass and brush suitable for cattle and sheep. Near the Rio Grande the country is tick infested; but there are no ticks on the high range of the mountain plateaus. With conditions more stabilized there will be great need for purebred stock in the states of Coahuila, Nuevo Leon, San Luis Potosi, Queretaro, Guanajuato, Michoacan, Jalisco, Zacatecas, Durango and Chihuahua.

Much Purebred Trading
"Considerable trading in purebred cattle is done now, of course, between cattlemen in Texas and Mexico. The United States company, Los Mochis, Sinaloa, recently purchased, in Texas, several carloads of Hereford bulls for use in the grade cattle herd which it runs on its ranch land. A British syndicate, with large ranching interests in Durango, has tried the use of Hereford bulls with native cows with very successful results. This syndicate has since purchased two carloads of Hereford bulls for April delivery.

"Because they are strong, healthy and hardy, Herefords will probably become the popular breed of beef cattle in Mexico, let for their product."

Planet Neptune was discovered in 1846.

When conditions in Mexico become more stable and adequate protection is afforded to invested cattle I think American breeders of livestock will find there a large outlet for their product.

Daughter Is Careful Not to Worry Father

CHICAGO, April 27.—When Edward B. Shapker, wealthy Chicago broker, left here for a trip to New York he told his pretty daughter Bessy, 17, not to send him any news that would worry him.

Bessy didn't, but this is what she held out on him.

That she was "pinched" for going forty-five miles an hour in papa's new limousine with five other girls, to escape flirting boys in another car; that she was fined $75, but melted the judge $25 on a plea that she wouldn't have any money for powder and rouge; that she paid $7 on account and told the judge she was going to get married to get the rest.

She didn't tell the judge to who she was to be married.

That's for Shapker to find out.

BANDIT SUSPECT

BELLINGHAM, Wash., April 27.—Suspected as a member of the gang implicated in the $20,500 payroll robbery at Springfield, Mo., last May and believed to be one of the Denver mint bandits, C. C. Thompson is being held here today on telegraph orders from Captain of Detectives A. L. Sampsey of Springfield.

When conditions in Mexico become more stable and adequate protection is afforded to invested cattle I think American breeders of livestock will find there a large outlet for their product.

Erect New Building For Motor Agency

Travelers along Verdugo road near Sparr Heights are attracted by the continued improvements and developments in that section. The most recent building activity is the erection of the first brick building to serve as the Lincoln-Ford garage. The construction work is being done by Harry Betz, old-time resident and well-known brick contractor.

HIGH JACKERS, CLAIM

LOS ANGELES, April 27.—Caught in the act of removing 126 cases of assorted liquors in a piano case from a West Third street address to 100 Fourth street, Manhattan Beach, three men, declared to be "high jackers" and to have stolen the liquor, valued at $25,000, were captured by prohibition agents late yesterday. The men, Robert Winter, James Dobbie and Les Maggart, were held in the county jail when they were unable to furnish bond.

FLINTS HINT OF EARLY MANKIND

Archaeologists Admit Beings Of Long Ago May Have Been Semi-Human

By LUTHER A. HUSTON,
For International News Service
LONDON, April 27. — Five thousand centuries ago—perhaps ten thousand — an Englishman tripped blithely down from a mountain crag to a brooklet that ran along about where the center of the English Channel now lies.
It was morning—undoubtedly a foggy morning—and he was hungry, so he reached a hairy paw down into the stream, clutched a fish, slew it and devoured it. The habit of eating fish for breakfast has persisted in England ever since. So have the foggy mornings.

All of which may be taken as an explanation of why the English eat fish for breakfast or may be regarded as a left-handed inroduction to the statement that man dwelt in England as long as 500,000 or 1,000,000 years ago.

England's antiquity never has been questioned, but it remained for Reid Moir, an expert on prehistoric man, to establish that Britain probably was the oldest home of mankind. Moir's verdict has been upheld by an international commission of archaeolo-gists, so the matter apparently has been settled.

Human Tools Found
Moir has discovered human implements in the neighborhood of Ipswich that seemingly establish that old King "Tool," whose peaceful sleep of centuries in the Valley of the Kings, at Luxor, recently was disturbed by the ruthless spade of the excavator, was a mere infant by comparison. His findings have given rise to the interesting speculation that England may have been the very cradle of the human race.

The exact age of the race of men who dropped on English soil the crude flints that Moir has found is problematical, for archaeologists are chary about going into detail in the matter of dates. A few thousand years or a few hundred thousand mean very little in the lives of archaeologists.
The lowest figure advanced by any authority, however, is about 300,000 years, while some are willing to hazard the prediction that these tools were the product of a race that lived a million years ago.

Topography Changed
At the time when this ancient race inhabited fair Albion England was not an island, the experts believe. The vast expanse that is now the English Channel and the North Sea was then a broad green fertile plain. The western coast of Europe at that time, it is estimated, ran out a hundred miles beyond Ireland.

No one can say that archaeologists are lacking in imagination, however, for they have turned into the prehistoric have reconstructed a picture of conditions then that is at least convincing in its reality.
They declare that great herds of long-tusked elephants cavorted over the plain and were preyed upon by ravenous sabre-toothed tigers that dwelt in the forests.
Monkeys chattered in the treetops, and hippopotami splashed and grunted in the streams.

Bones of these animals have been found in abundance in the area where Moir has conducted his investigations. No human remains have yet been found, but the implements that have been unearthed are alleged to record the earliest traces of mankind known to science.

Moir's discoveries were submitted to a learned commission which included four Belgians, two Frenchmen, two Englishmen and two Americans. This commission, which is the gravest tribunal for such matters in the world, has pointed out that the maker of the flint tools may not have been an ancestor of modern man at all.
They suggest that he may have been something that was halfway on the road to humanity, but who never got there. They agree, however, that he at least was semi-human, was semi-intelligent and that he was undoubtedly tremendously old.

A MESSAGE TO THE WOMEN OF GLENDALE AND VICINITY

Edith V. Roberts, who is demonstrating the making of Human Hair at The Brooks Hemstitching and Pleating Shop at 123 N. Brand Blvd., holds a unique position in the hair world; in fact, she is in a class all by herself.

Mrs. Roberts is weaving daily, for a limited time only, for the benefit of the skeptical woman who wishes to assure herself as to meritorious work.

The weaving will consist of Switches, Puffs, Transformations, Bobs of Curls, Bobettes, Waves, Ear Muffs, Pin Curls, and all popular hair pieces.

The woman who really cares to look her best, and enjoys being distinctive, by having the best (which is Human Hair) should avail herself of this opportunity.

Combing also made up in any desired style. All work disinfected, washed, rooted, and all weaving tied in, and absolutely guaranteed not to comb out.

Mrs. Roberts' vast experience as a teacher in Chicago's largest Hair School, along with 18 years' experience, qualifies her to speak with authority on her subject.

WANT REAL MEN TO JOIN FLIGHT

Will Have to Hunt and Fish Not for Sport But to Maintain Life

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service
LONDON, April 27.—There is a fine opportunity open for "real men" who want a "thrilling adventure" with Captain G. H. Malins and Commander MacMillan, who are planning a round-the-world airplane flight.

Anyone who wants to lead a Robinson Crusoe existence for a few months may join up with Captain Malins' expedition not for the air flight, but for the dreary work of conducting maintenance stations in distant and little-known lands.

"I want some real adventurers," Captain Malins said in discussing his plans. "I have obtained a few already."

To Make Preparations
"Before we start flying a steam yacht is to be dispatched to lay petrol, food and ammunition dumps in a trail on volcanic islands from the Aleutians and the Kuriles to Japan."

"On that boat, which we are naming the 'S.V. Frontiersman,' we shall have a crew of thirty-five and a body of 'adventurers,' who will be left on these islands, well armed, to protect these dumps."

Sportsman In Charge
"The men will be literally marooned, like a Crusoe or a Ben Gunn, and have to fish and shoot for necessity rather than sport."

"The skipper of the boat— which we have bought—is Commander Littlehales, who was in charge of a Russian icebreaker in the Great War, and was more than once threatened with execution in the Russo-Japanese war."

"He's a great sportsman, and so is Captain Pocock, who will take charge of the dump depositing in preparation for the flight to follow, and so are two flight commanders who will be on board and see after our landing stations."

"You see we mean to take no chances this time. We do not intend to rely on local preparations. As for our machine, it will be the last word in aircraft. We shall take time to meet the yacht at Tokyo and get from it the charts of the hidden dumps."

"It will follow the Vancouver, and while we cross the American continent the yacht will steam to the South Sea Islands and back up the east coast of Brazil to the west coast of Africa and home. In the meantime we will fly to Newfoundland, Greenland and Iceland."

COMMENT That's All

Premium On Evil Living Sentiment And Legislation It's Reforestation Week Seeking Wilds Of Borneo

By Gil A. Cowan

CALIFORNIA places a premium on evil living when the members of the assembly concur with Miss Eleanor Miller of Pasadena that the Sonoma Industrial Farm for Delinquent Women should be reforested.

Much better it would be to spend $200,000 for practical education purposes than to waste this vast sum on a few wild women. If it were an effective moral scheme, as Dr. Ernest Dozier points out, there would be 54,000 instead of fifty-four inmates at the institution.

Too much sentiment enters into our moral legislation. More stern justice is needed. Columns could be written on this subject, for in the centuries gone by the same problem has confronted the nations, and it always will be with us.

Sympathy can be extended to dope fiends but none for the demimonde. Cures can be effected among alcoholics, but only a divine spark can lift the fallen woman. Less than fifteen per cent of them ever do make good.

And yet the state of California is called upon to spend upwards of $200,000 for them, while the more successful of their sisters in disgrace go about boasting of the apartments, ranches and diamonds they own; or flaunt the latest glad rags in the faces of innocent girls; or ensnare foolish young men to buy them more!

Bah, what mockery arises among the dregs in the cup of life!

This is national reforestation week. Something worth while for all of us to consider. America is rushing along with little thought to the future of our forests.

But to Senator A. Burlingame Johnson of Pasadena goes credit for having before the California legislature bills which will enable the state forester and timbering interests to co-operate in a constructive program.

This forward-looking legislation will not be beneficial for three score years or more, but if these bills become a law the grandchildren and great grandchildren of this generation will sing the praises of the senator who is now working out the progressive problem of reforestation.

We may expect our next crop of runaway boys making for South Africa and the wilds of Borneo with the present spasm of thrillers at the motion picture shows.

Yet it is good to note this trend toward human interest in topics of the screen and the abandoning of the vampire. It gave the writer great pleasure to read of Rudolph Valentino being hooted from a New Jersey theatre stage.

There are too many Rudolph Valentinos in real life without educating others by means of real life. Think of it, more than 200 young loafers of Sacramento have what is known as the Sheik club of K street. They are the nice bad men of the Twentieth century—and know it.

What America needs is more virile amusement in the way of sports, boy scouts and the like. Fever dance has greater family life are essential for the coming generation.

"Wireless Saves Appendicitis Victim," says a headline. Absent treatment seems to be a success.

FIRE CONTROLLED

FLORENCE, Ala., April 27.—Fire, that for a while threatened the heart of the business district here, following the explosion of a gasoline iron, was brought under control when the fire department of three neighboring towns arrived.

The damage was confined mostly to the hotel where the fire started, only slight damage being done to surrounding buildings. Loss is estimated at $100,000, with only $20,000 insurance.

CANADA TREATY MAY EMBARRASS

Other Colonies Likely to Ask Direct Representation In Washington

For International News Service

By DAVID M. CHURCH
LONDON, April 27.—Washington is threatened with an influx of new ambassadors of the British Empire.

This turn in diplomatic affairs may result from the comedy of errors in connection with the recent Canadian treaty negotiated directly between the United States department and the Canadian government, without consulting the British foreign office.

If the Canadian action is finally sanctioned by London, and if Canada is permitted to send a diplomatic representative to Washington, then the other dominions will demand the same right.

Australia and New Zealand are understood to have already intimated to the foreign office that they don't intend to have Canada represented by a separate ambassador unless they are granted the same privilege.

General Smuts usually stands up for the rights of his dominion, and he may be expected to follow suit.

The Irish Free State is already anxious to have direct representation in Washington.

The net result of the Canadian treaty comedy may be that Ambassador Geddes will find his work greatly curtailed, and he may find that he has several colleagues.

Needless to say, the British government and the foreign office are resisting with all of their power the efforts of the dominions to secure direct representation at Washington, for such a concession might easily be the first step in a general process of the disintegration of the power of the Empire.

The whole matter is very likely to supply considerable material for lively discussions at the forthcoming Imperial Conference to be held in London shortly.

The dominions maintain they are handicapped now by lack of representation in Washington and charge that their diplomatic negotiations are subject to a heavy delay because all of them must be handled through the foreign office, which is constantly jammed with work and is under heavy pressure from other dominions.

Canada seems to have broken the ice in a spot that long has been labeled "Dangerous."

Stolen Cash Returned By Church Embezzler

TOLEDO, Ohio., April 27.—Nearly $300 has been turned over to the trustees of St. Paul's M. E. church here, to quiet the twinges of an uneasy conscience. Rev. T. Wallis Grose, the pastor, told his congregation.

The money, he explained, had been turned over by an unnamed member of the congregation who had received a sum of money for church purposes several years ago, and diverted it to his own use. The sum returned included compound interest.

DEVOTED TO RAISINS

SACRAMENTO, April 27.—Raisins, for a time yesterday, eclipsed the budget as the topic of interest before the assembly. The debate, which is expected to develop into the biggest fight on the budget, was stopped for ten minutes while the members gave a mental and gastronomic thought to the Raisin Day celebration at Fresno.

While members of the Fresno county delegation made short speeches extolling the San Joaquin valley and telling of its contribution to the agricultural production and wealth of the state, packages of raisins and figs, prepared by the Sun Maid growers and the California Peach and Fig Association, were distributed.

QUIT IN FEAR

LOS ANGELES, April 27.—Threats from alleged members of the I. W. W. that unless they quit work the I. W. W. would "smash their heads in," caused 1,000 stevedores in Los Angeles harbor to leave their jobs late yesterday, according to a police estimate.

A clash was expected to occur when Captain Clyde Plumber, with a squad of forty policemen, and Port Warden C. B. Terry planned to invade the docks and order all pickets and idlers to move on.

Longest Street Car Strike Terminates

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio, April 27.—One of the longest street car strikes on record was ended here, with complete victory for the unions, when the management of the Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction Company granted all demands of the union, upon which they struck May 1, 1922. The long struggle was officially ended when the city council passed an ordinance granting a fare increase.

DESERTION CHARGED

LOS ANGELES, April 27.—Accused of deserting his wife and two children in New Jersey, Christian O'Neill, alias O. J. Connors and O. J. O'Neill, who weighs 320 pounds and is said by the police to have been an "extra" in motion pictures, was arrested late yesterday on instructions from Newark police.

Judge Advises Cage For Short Nose Dogs

NEW YORK, April 27.—"Dogs must be muzzled," says the law, if they have no noses the law still says they must be muzzled. So Miss Florence Reed, an actress, appeared before Magistrate Simms to answer a charge of strolling in Central Park with two leashed but unmuzzled dogs—to wit: "Muffins" and "Coffee." "It makes no difference," the magistrate said, when informed that "Muffins" and "Coffee" have no noses, "that muzzling them would be quite a feat and that, anyway, they are not vicious. 'Put cages on their heads,' the court suggested. 'Cages for my poor 'Muffins' and 'Coffee,' the actress gasped. 'Exactly'—and a fifty cents fine for each," said Magistrate Simms.

Londoners Like Fogs; Spin Some Tall Yarns

LONDON, April 27.—Londoners dote on fogs. They revel in them. They love to talk about them. This is the foggy season. An American complaining about the condition was told by one of his English friends: "This is no fog. Why, I remember one so dense I ran into lamp posts because I could not see the lights." The other friend said he remembered one so thick he struck a match, but didn't know it was lighted until he burned his fingers. All Americans here complain about the fogs.

They Receive Nation's Award For Their Good Work In World War

Army nurses decorated.

Here are five of the twenty-one army nurses awarded the Distinguished Service Medal for their meritorious work in the world war. These nurses received the nation's award at the hands of General Pershing, in Washington. From left to right: Captain S. L. Millikin, assistant superintendent, army nursing corps; Captain B. S. Rulon, assistant superintendent, army nursing corps; First Lieutenant Carrie L. Howard, chief nurse, army nursing corps; First Lieutenant Nena Shelton, chief nurse, army nursing corps; Second Lieutenant Catherine G. Sinnott and General John H. Pershing.

PLENTY OF RICH COAL DEPOSITS

No Shortage Danger Within Next Few Centuries, Says Geologist

By LUTHER A. HUSTON
For International News Service

LONDON, April 27.—England has been mining coal literally for ages, but there is no indication that future generations of Britons will suffer through shortage of the coal supply. The date when England's unmined stocks of coal will be exhausted is estimated to be so far in the future that present generations hardly can be expected to manifest concern regarding it.

There are a few of the coal fields now being worked that show indications of "petering out." Geologists estimate that within the next fifty years, more or less, some of England's existing developed fields will have ceased to produce. What has not been generally known, however, is that there are vast undeveloped fields in the British Isles containing sufficient coal, geologists have found, to insure Britain an adequate fuel supply for at least 400 years.

Investigation Made

The revelation of the fact that there are exceptionally rich coal fields still unexploited in England was made recently by Sir Halford Mackinder, noted geologist, in a lecture. He pointed out that there are fields, extending over an area of several hundred square miles, in South Yorkshire and Nottinghamshire, that never have been touched. Sir Halford's revelations were discussed by Sir Richard Redmayne, government inspector of mines, in an interview. "So far as the next 400 years the concerned," Sir Richard said. "I think we may rest satisfied that the country has an ample supply of coal in the earth. I noticed that Sir Halford Mackinder has stated that some of the British fields are nearly exhausted, while others are still in the initial stages of exploitation. This is true. For instance, the present state of the South Staffordshire field is not comparable to that which existed in that field sixty or seventy years ago. It is what may be called a dying field, although to say it is 'nearly' exhausted would depend entirely upon the degree of exhaustion connoted by the word 'nearly'."

Undeveloped Fields

"The hidden coal fields of South Yorkshire and Nottinghamshire are exceedingly rich, containing vast beds of most excellent coal. There is also a large undeveloped coal field lying south of Berwick-

City's Light Plant Multiplies in Value

SOUTH NORWALK, April 27.—South Norwalk's municipal electric light company was started 31 years ago on an investment of $22,500 and today, in a plant valued at $250,000, is doing a gross annual business of $150,000, which returns a net profit of $33,000 a year.

Westcott & Mapes of New Haven have been retained as engineers of the construction of a $300,000 addition to the plant made necessary by a business which gained 30 per cent in the last month.

South Norwalk's municipal electric light plant furnishes house lighting at 10 cents per kilowatt hour, with a 10 per cent reduction for payment of bills in 10 days, and furnishes factory or store lighting and power at rates ranging from 5 cents to 3 cents per kilowatt hour, with the same discount rate of 10 per cent in 10 days.

The new addition is to be paid out of the company's profits, reinvested by the commissioners who run the plant, but one of the first steps to be attempted in the near future will be a reduction in rates to consumers.

Eventually, it is expected, the municipal lighting plant will pay all the debts of the district.

The plant was designed and its construction supervised by Albert E. Winchester, one of the original "Edison pioneers." Winchester has been superintendent of the plant since its completion and today is known as a municipal lighting expert who does not believe in general adoption of the plan, because he thinks his success due to peculiar conditions, and that "yoking these conditions to other cities would fail in conducting their own municipal lighting properties."

ANNUAL RAISIN DAY

FRESNO, Cal., April 27.—The whole of California yesterday joined in the annual Raisin Day celebration here in assisting the San Joaquin valley in celebrating the successful refinancing of the Sun Maid Raisin Association, the culmination of which was announced last night by General Manager Ralph Merritt as heralding a new era for the industry for co-operative marketing and of prosperity for the valley.

The pageant parade told in epic detail the history of the raisin from ancient days. San Francisco, Los Angeles and other cities were represented by floats and the event was declared the greatest celebration of its kind ever held here.

on-Tweed which contains, on the estimate of the Royal Commission on Coal Supply, at least three hundred million tons of coal."

Great development in these

"hidden" fields is expected as soon as British industry recovers the normal conditions that were shattered by the war. The initial work of exploitation already has begun, and ironmasters are purchasing rights over adjoining areas believed to contain deposits of iron ore.

LAUNCHES CRUSADE

CHICAGO, April 27.—General Charles Dawes has raised the banner of conservatism to stem the flood of reform and radicalism sweeping the country, and organized here the first chapter of the "Minute Men of the Constitution." He expects the movement to be state-wide and perhaps nationwide. In launching his crusade General Dawes took a dig at reformers who, he declared, are trying to dictate to the government.

"The purpose of this thing is to show these politicians and reformers that every one in this heck of the woods isn't wishy-washy enough to fall in line with their dictations," he snorted.

HELD FOR INQUIRY

BOSTON, April 27.—Charged with possession of explosives, Charles Blamfield was arrested late yesterday following an investigation of the incendiary fire at St. Peter and St. Paul church in South Boston.

MIGHT DRAW AS WELL AS CIRCUS

English Showman, Member Of House, Proposes to Charge Admittance

By LUTHER A. HUSTON
For International News Service

LONDON, April 27.—"Here yuh are, ladies an' gents! Step right this way and see the greatest collection of wonders ever assembled in one arena. See the mammoth menage of performing parliamentarians. It's the opportunity of a lifetime, ladies an' gents, and all it costs is half a crown."

The rolling, stentorian tones of David Lloyd George boomed forth their irresistible appeal. Long queues of eager spectators poured a silver deluge of half-crowns into the swift-moving hands of the box-office experts. A packed house greeted the first performance of the "wonder circus of the ages."

Has Eye to Business

It's all supposititious, of course, but it is the picture drawn by Pat Collins, an old-time English showman, who now holds a seat in the House of Commons. Collins, new to parliament, but old in the knowledge of what pleases circus crowds, has been sizing up his new surroundings. He has come to the conclusion that the House of Commons, properly "circusized" would be the greatest show in the world.

"Take the house as it is now, appoint me ringmaster, enlarge the visitors' galleries to seat 3,000, impose an admission fee of one guinea (about $5) a head," Collins declared, "and I would clear off the national debt in five years."

Collins then proceeded to tell how he would organize his circus if his fanciful idea could be realized.

Plenty Roaring Animals

"I shouldn't have to go very far to find my roaring and growling lions and bears. When some of our labor friends from the Clyde get warmed up they are a very fair imitation of a hungry zoo."

"My choice of doorman would not give me a moment's thought either. I can hear Mr. Lloyd George asking the people to walk in and see the finest circus in the world. He would be so eloquent that his hearers would be unable to resist his wizard spell."

"My lion-tamer is very handy, too. The speaker amazes me every day. I should never have imagined demonstrating for a single man to be gifted with such an inexhaustible fund of tact as Speaker Whitley."

"And where would I find a better acrobat or gymnast than Mr. Sorymgeour, the prohibition member of Dundee? His speeches are poems of motion."

"The prime minister would be my memory marvel. The way he handles questions is a never-ending wonder to me. I think Mr. Bonar Law must have a memory like a card index system."

See the Human Thistle!

"I should have no lack of side-shows. First and foremost would be Mr. Kirkwood, the labor member for Dumbarton—the Human Thistle—you can't sit on him!" Collins demonstrated that he knows the psychology of the small boy whose greatest pleasure is peeping through the holes or under the edge of the canvas. He takes a clever dig at two of the greatest question manufacturers in the house by remarking:

"It would be too much to expect to be without inquisitive small boys peeping under the canvas. I suppose Commander Kenworthy and Mr. Pringle would still want to be told all about it."

Perhaps Collins is a little too enthusiastic about his proposed show, but at any rate it's an idea—and one that mighty Barnum overlooked.

MINIMIZE STRIKE

NEW YORK, April 27.—"Not more than a dozen ships" have so far been affected by the seamen's strike in New York harbor, it is asserted by shipping men. They minimize the extent of the strike, denying the claim of the I. W. W., who ordered the walkout, that 30,000 men have quit their posts. The only vessel that missed a sailing, according to shipping men, was the Virginia Express, a

Objector to Dry Law Quits 'No Work' Vow

BUENOS AIRES, April 27.—A solemn vow that he would never return to work until light wines and beer were authorized through governmental legislation was made by Tony Behner, 22, copper-smith, when he returned, four years ago, from the World War, after serving with the aviation forces, and found that the nation had adopted the prohibition amendment.

Behner eked out a precarious existence as a minute man for the local Fire Department receiving $1 for the first hour and 50 cents for each subsequent hour. Averaging about two calls a month his income from the calls aggregated about $2 monthly.

A few days ago Behner related and left for Indianapolis to accept a position as a copper-smith in a plant there.

Power Station Talks To Cars With Radio

NEW YORK, April 27.—Radio in the form of a carrier current was used for the first time this afternoon in carrying on a successful conversation between a moving street car and a power station, when the General Electric company gave a public demonstration on the Third Avenue Railways lines. As the trolley car slowly traveled up and down St. Ann avenue persons on the car talked back and forth to an engineer located in the Brook avenue sub-station. At times the car was three miles from the station, but this does not indicate the limitations of operations, and General Electric engineers declared that sets could be built of sufficient power to assure communications over an entire street railway system.

LIMIT TO FEES

SACRAMENTO, April 27.—The fellow bill limiting the fees of private employment agencies passed the senate late yesterday. The bill has already passed the assembly, and the action of the senate brings to a successful culmination a struggle of many years by organized labor and other elements of the state legislature to prevent exploitation of the unemployed.

The bill is one of a series governing the employment agencies, introduced by Assemblyman Felton of San Francisco, and has furnished one of the most warmly contested issues of the present session.

freighter. Other ships were forced to endure delays. Shipping board officials said that the strikers' demands for a $20 a month wage increase and forty-four-hour week would not be granted. The test of strength, it was asserted, will not come until Monday.

GOVERNOR HURLS FEAR INTO FOES

Executive's Attitude Causes Opponents To Become Rather Alarmed

By GIL A. COWAN
For International News Service
SACRAMENTO, April 27.—Governor Richardson is not opposed to placing constitutional and statutory expenditures in the general appropriation bills now stalling the assembly. If the lawyers agree recurrent expenses shall be listed, the governor sees no reason why they should not be there where he can trim them if he desires. Of course, he would be justified in opposing such a course because it places in jeopardy such established state projects as Los Angeles flood control, the state university and like fixed funds. It is pointed out. But he would be delighted to make such cuts as he feels are necessary, says Dr. Ernest Dozier, Redding assemblyman.

And this newly adopted attitude of the executive has thrown fear into the minds of many assemblymen. In fact, it would not be surprising this afternoon to see the majority agree to a blanket amendment covering all recurrent expenditures. Rapid action now is needed, as they have voted to adjourn noon, May 14, the day the solons' pay stops.

Butchered, Says Doctor
Dr. Dozier yesterday offered a constitutional amendment repealing the budget act, maintaining it was time for the laymen to take action in the matter of state finances. He added that the constitution of the state already has been butchered beyond repair since 1910. And he insisted it was the legislature's duty to function regardless of what the attorneys might rule.

Similar sentiment is seen in the governor's veto on a half dozen measures by Senator Bennett, which he claims only tend to duplicate and muddle the present statutes. It seems that a clear case of too much law has been established in California.

Senators are spending much of their time enjoying the assembly's difficulties, incidentally grinding out a grist of laws, many of which it is expected the governor will veto. Heaven knows they need it!

FAMILY DIES IN OKLA. MASSACRE

Two Murderers Slaughter Six Persons In Yard Of Farm House

HAWORTH, Okla., April 27.—Driving up to the farm house of Thomas Hamlin near here today, two unidentified men shot to death six members of Hamlin's family and escaped on horseback. No motive could be learned for the crime.

According to reports reaching here from Hamlin's farm, two men rode up to his home, called the family outside and began to shoot them down.

Hamlin told it is said, along with his wife and daughter, and Mrs. George Tope and her 10-year-old son. A 5-year-old daughter of Mrs. Tope was fatally wounded.

U. S. C. STUDENTS IN MOTOR CRASH

Five Injured When Auto Overtakes Following Collision

LOS ANGELES, April 27.—Five University of Southern California students were injured, two of them perhaps fatally, early today in a spectacular automobile collision at Western avenue and Wilshire boulevard.

The injured are Edwin Abrams, 25, San Luis Obispo, fractured skull; Nell Lennon, 22, Pasadena, probable skull fracture; Al Wesson, 23, broken arm and cuts and bruises; Dean McCluskey, 18, concussion of the brain; Clifton McCluskey, 19, contusions and abrasions about the head, arms and face.

The machine in which the students were riding was traveling on Western avenue and crashed into the front wheels of an automobile driven by Thomas Buckley.

Later, Buckley told the police, Wesson, who was driving the students' car, was traveling about forty-five or fifty miles an hour. Wesson's car overturned after careening for 100 yards down the street, pinning its occupants beneath it.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Class Hostess

Mrs. C. S. Jewsbury of 604 West Lexington Drive, was hostess yesterday afternoon to the members of the R. T. W. Class of the First Baptist church, of which Mrs. Jennie B. Doozee is teacher. The assistant hostesses were Mrs. A. Van Wormer, Mrs. Willard Keith, and Mrs. J. W. Headlee.

Devotionals were led by Mrs. J. L. Gray which was followed by a short business session in charge of the president, Mrs. J. Roger Bentley.

The remainder of the afternoon was devoted to sewing for the American Red Cross.

Late in the afternoon dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses to the thirty members present.

The May meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. George Bentley, 527 North Orange street.

Inaugural Ball

All Glendale Elks and their wives are looking forward to the annual inaugural ball which will take place tomorrow night, April 28, at the club house, under the auspices of the Elks band.

This is an annual informal affair and is for Elks and their families only. The music for the evening will be furnished by an orchestra composed of members from the band and in case the ball room is not large enough for the number of dancers present, the lower ball room will be opened and another orchestra provided.

The committee in charge of arrangements are Joseph Blue, J. F. Hearnshaw, Harry Frailey, Wilfred Gibbard and R. C. Evans. All proceeds derived from this affair will be applied toward the band fund.

Birthday Affair

To celebrate the birthday of Mrs. August Muske of 1128 East Chestnut street, a group of relatives and friends gathered at her home last night for an informal affair.

During the evening music was enjoyed by Mrs. Muske's three children, Albert, Gertrude and Gladys and by Beatrice Tower. They gave piano and violin solos and piano duets.

After the program refreshments were served.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Hartman and son Adrian and daughter Margaret of Eagle Rock, Mrs. A. E. Mayr of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Tower and daughter Beatrice of Glendale.

Pupils' Recital

The first of a series of four recitals to be given this year by the pupils of Miss Maud Salisbury was given last Saturday, April 21, at Miss Salisbury's home, 1136 North Central avenue. The mothers and many friends of the pupils were present and the program consisting of piano solos and duets proved very interesting and enjoyable.

The following students appeared on the program: Gloria Morton, Gertrude Cressman, George Miller, Geraldine Moores, Elinor Miller, Ivan Robinson, Maxine Myers, Kamona Auey, Frederick Dundas, Thomas Smith, Francis Dundas, Celia Logan, Eloise Knaus, and Donald Dewy.

Guests Honored

Mrs. W. J. Siebert of 343 West Doran street honored Mrs. A. C. Mordorf of Cincinnati, Ohio, yesterday with a 1 o'clock luncheon and Five-Hundred party.

The first prize for the card games was won by Mrs. C. Vogel, while the consolation prize went to Mrs. Mordorf.

Mrs. Siebert's guests were Mesdames C. Vogel, Fred Dordrich, J. Hartman, T. Evans, A. Mordorf and W. Eckles.

Club Will Meet

Wild flower lovers of Glendale are invited to attend the meeting of the Wild Flower club Monday night at 7:30 o'clock with Mrs. H. C. Ackley of 236 North Kenwood street. Those present will study the buttercup family and the evening primrose family.

St. Mark's Guild

St. Mark's Guild women enjoyed a regular meeting yesterday in the Guild hall. Mrs. A. A. Bassett, president was in charge of the meeting.

The business lunch was attended by a record crowd.

Postage stamps appeared since our great-grandfather's day.

The
"Safety-ette"

IS STRICTLY A LADY'S RAZOR

Is Here

—Safety-ette has a personality all her own. It has come to destroy many of the old bothersome discomforts and annoyances of Milady's INTIMATE TOILETTE—to revolutionize all traditions, and upset all former ideas in women's safety-razordom!

—The curve has done it. Safety-ette is not a man's miniature razor—it comes to meet a special and long-felt need—answering the call of thousands of women the country over. It makes this necessary part of the particular woman's toilette so simple, so easy, so pleasant. And, my dear, it is IMPOSSIBLE to cut oneself with "Safety-ette."

—Strictly a lady's Razor of miniature size, it has taken its permanent place on milady's dressing table—or in her traveling case. A dainty, accommodating little friend in need.

WING TRACT LOT SALES ARE RAPID

Seven Lots Remaining At End of Eight Weeks' Brisk Campaign

"Only seven lots remain unsold in the Wing Orange Grove tract." The above announcement, made by tract manager, Marvin Smith, comes just eight weeks after his announcement that the tract was open, with 118 lots for sale. "In just eight weeks," states Mr. Smith, "a matter of 111 fine homesites have been purchased in this tract, with only two salesmen on the job—Maurice Healey and myself. We did not sell the lots. They sold themselves. Why? Because they are desirable from every angle by which residence property can be measured. They are close in, conveniently located to all centers, three blocks from the new high school, the grammar school, the trolleys, the boulevards, the busses, the markets, the stores. They are highly scenic, commanding a view unsurpassed in Glendale or elsewhere. They are covered with full-bearing orange trees. They are large. They are directly in the path of the greatest development, where sharp rises in values are certain.

"Those are some of the reasons for the phenomenal sale of lots in the Wing Orange Grove tract. Now, with but seven of these lots left, only a few additional Glendale people are going to be in on these things. Those few will be the lucky ones.

"The remaining seven lots are among the most desirable in the tract. The reason they have not sold is because the fruit has just come off the trees in the south end of the tract, where they were located, prior to which we were not able to show them. There is no doubt in our minds but that these seven remaining lots will be snapped up before the end of the week.

"Wing street is now clear through from Colorado street to Windsor road, and twelve houses are under construction on the tract—nine on Wing street, one on Maple street, one on Porter street and one on Windsor road, while nine more houses are scheduled to start next week, three or four on Windsor road and the balance scattered throughout the tract."

Republic Of Honduras Described By Pastor

Now that the republic of Honduras in Central America is being brought to the attention of Southern Californians, it is of interest to Glendaleans that Rev. M. A. Denman of 430 Burchett street has visited that country three times.

"It is a hermit republic," says Rev. Denman, "and while there I penetrated its jungles and familiarized myself with its history, peoples, politics and prospects."

Rev. Denman was for two years lecturer for the board of education of New York City and he is hoping to give a lecture on "Honduras" in Glendale.

City Council Votes $100 For Ball Players

The City Council last night at the suggestion of Councilman Jim Davis voted the Glendale Baseball Team a donation of $100 for the purchase of uniforms in order that this team may properly advertise the City of Glendale. One of the trustees of this team is Jesse E. Smith, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

ASK PASSAGE OF DAIRY ORDINANCE

Proposed Law Will Provide Penalty For Sale Of Sub-Standard Milk

A dairy ordinance providing a fine of from $25 to $500 or a sentence of ninety days in the county jail for the sale of milk which does not conform to the grading specifications of the state department of agriculture and contain at least 3.5 per cent butterfat was suggested by Dr. G. Kaemmerling, city health officer, last night to the City Council.

The subject was laid upon the table for future consideration. A copy of a model ordinance, formulated by the state department of agriculture, was filed with City Clerk A. J. Van Wie.

According to M. E. McDonald, market milk specialist for the State Department of Agriculture, a communication from whom was filed also, the adoption of this ordinance "virtually amounts to the health department guaranteeing to the public that the milk is of the quality indicated on the label thus giving the public an index at all times of the quality of milk offered them on the market."

"I am very glad to note your department already has the personal and laboratory facilities for conducting the necessary work required for grading the milk."

Ordinance Needed

"Since you have no milk inspection ordinance at present providing for the enforcement of the dairy laws and rules and regulations, I feel the enclosed ordinance will meet all requirements in that respect."

Dr. G. Kaemmerling stated in a further communication: "The Glendale Health Department enjoys the fullest confidence of the different state departments with which we come in contact. Our department is on a par with Los Angeles city and county as far as state officials are concerned and if you can see your way clear to follow the suggestion of the attached letter, it would be of great benefit to the public, especially babies who are the greatest consumers of milk."

Three Days More Of Jerry Jeter Meetings

"Next Monday morning the Jeter tabernacle will be torn down," says Evangelist Jerry Jeter. "That means only three days more of the campaign."

Services were marked yesterday by many starting the Christian life. Mrs. Jeter spoke in the afternoon on "Happy Homes and How to Make Them." She showed how homes are disrupted by unkind words, temper and argument.

Last night the evangelist spoke on "The Second Coming of Christ." Tonight his subject will be "What Shall the End Be?"

Two delegations from Los Angeles attended last night's meeting, it is reported, one from the Bob Shuler church and the other from the First Cumberland Presbyterian church.

Forest Fires Raging Through Pennsylvania
POTTSVILLE, Pa., April 27.—Twenty-five forest fires are still burning in this district today and hundreds of men are engaged in fighting the flames, in some instances miners being called upon for aid.

It may be necessary to conscript men to fight the fires and state police today announced that those who are summoned to fight fires and refuse to do so will be fined, a special law empowering the police to do so.

OPERATED UPON
Miss Mabel Adair of 232 South Cedar street was operated upon this morning at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

MINOR OPERATION
A minor operation was performed upon Smith MacMullin of 755 West Doran street this morning at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

GREAT WHITE WAY WILL HELP ADVERTISE ALL CITY

Lighting System Is Complete In Every Detail and Will Prove Of Material Benefit In Further Aiding Glendale's Progress

WHEN on the dot of 8:15 o'clock Saturday night, Mayor Spencer Robinson throws the switch that sends the current leaping into the 3800 feet of strikingly artistic ornamental standards along San Fernando road from Los Feliz to Pacific, a period and an exclamation point will at the same time be placed as a fitting terminus to over a year of untiring effort in this direction by the San Fernando Boulevard Improvement Association and others who have been instrumental in achieving this new "White Way" for Glendale.

The standards are indeed beautiful and give this important artery of traffic between Los Angeles, Glendale and valley points a street lighting system it has long deserved, is the consensus of opinion on the eve of the big celebration to officially dedicate these lights to the section and the city.

The system consists of fifty standards, staggered at seventy foot intervals, each unit rising nineteen feet from the sidewalk to the two large and uniquely shaped globes, making a total height of over twenty feet. The standards are constructed of marbleite concrete, modeled from a design chosen after the committee in charge had inspected the street lighting systems of various representative Southern California cities. The total cost of the system is given as $14,800, borne by the property owners along the frontage affected.

The city plans to burn twenty of these lights all night, it is understood, the remaining thirty to be burned until 10 o'clock. This arrangement will serve to advertise the city and section during the hours of heaviest night traffic, and maintain a proper illumination for safety during the remaining hours until dawn.

Inasmuch as the history of the new lights is interwoven with the history of the San Fernando Boulevard Improvement association, to trace the development of one will be to indicate the progress of the other. This association was organized in the latter part of 1921, and is officered at the present time by the following: L. H. Wilson, president; Charles J. Griffin, secretary; and William Griffin, treasurer.

One of the first moves of the body was to start a campaign for ornamental lights along San Fernando road from Los Feliz to Pacific. To initiate the movement, appointment was made of the before-mentioned committee that went to various nearby cities and studied their street-lighting systems. The next step, after this committee reported on the type of standards now erected, was to start a petition amongst property owners, urging adoption of the plan.

This original petition, though signed by an ample majority of property owners, produced a considerable amount of unfavorable agitation. Twice protests against the plan were submitted. The last was overruled on February 16, 1922, and from then on things proceeded rather more smoothly. Actual installation of the lights began around the first of November, 1922, but considerable delay was encountered in getting delivery on the conduits and the glass globes. It is explained by Secretary Griffin of the association.

Now, with work completed and San Fernando road in possession of as fine a street lighting system as exists anywhere in the west, experts state, the last remaining step in the slow but sure sequence of events leading to the present triumph, is the dedication on Saturday night of this fine new system and for that gala occasion a special program has been provided, full details of which will be found elsewhere on this page.

"Let there be light—and there was light!" will once more be demonstrated on that night. And nightly, thereafter, San Fernando road between Los Feliz and Pacific will be a brilliantly illuminated, alluring highway, advertising southern Glendale far and wide, making present property owners proud of their assets and impelling future investors to study that section carefully, in the ample light afforded.

Each light has a capacity of 250 candlepower. This gives each standard a combined capacity of 500 candlepower. The five-light clusters on Brand boulevard at Broadway have smaller globes and diffuse the light to such an extent that they represent a total capacity of only about 300 candlepower. The one-light standards on Orange street have an efficiency of 100 candlepower. Peter Diederich, superintendent of maintenance for the public service department, admits that the new lights will be the brightest in the city.

The standards themselves cost $100 apiece. The electric lamps cost $1.55 apiece, which makes $3.30 for each standard. The globes which protect the lights cost about $25 apiece, or $50 for each standard.

BLOW YOUR HORN

Los Angeles would still be a pueblo, were it not for having the courage to "blow its own horn." If the horn-blower has something marketable he needn't be afraid to blow his own horn—for all it accomplishes is to get the crowd. It doesn't make the crowd buy. The crowd doesn't buy unless the value is there.

COST OF LIGHTS

The total cost of each of the new light standards on San Fernando road is $320, made up as follows: Standard proper, $100; globes, $25 each, making $50 for the two; electric lamps, $1.65 each, making $3.30 for the two; and the balance of the cost is made up of labor, wiring, etc.

LOTS OF TRAFFIC

Over 20,000 cars a day pass through Glendale via San Fernando boulevard, according to the research department of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

HERE IS SLOGAN

"You can never boost too hard For San Fernando boulevard."

PLENTY OF LIGHT

Each light in the new electric standards on San Fernando road has 250 candlepower. As there are two lights to a standard, this gives 500 candlepower per standard, which makes these lights the most powerful in the city, those on Brand boulevard of the five-cluster type representing a total capacity of but 300 candlepower, owing to diffusion.

REALTY VALUES INCREASE ON SAN FERNANDO ROAD

About 20,000 Cars Daily Pass On Thriving Thoroughfare; Sterling Worth Of Property Is Just Beginning To Be Realized

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of The Evening News Staff

THE modern, busy San Fernando road—a vital artery of traffic between Los Angeles, Glendale, Burbank and the entire valley, over which upwards of 20,000 cars pass daily—may well be contrasted for a moment with El Camino Real, "The King's Highway," as it was called in the days of Spanish occupation, when the Padres passed over it on their journeys from the San Diego Mission to missions all along the line, clear up to San Francisco Mission, on their early errands of mercy and peace.

Old inhabitants and pioneers can still remember the ancient signposts marking the trail, now replaced by the occasional iron standards surmounted by a bell. And many stories can be recalled of those days now passed into the twilight of a civilization that is gone, supplanted by an era of progress such as the world has never before witnessed.

Little did Father Junipero Serra and those other padres dream, when, in the old days, they traveled El Camino Real afoot or on mule-back, that in the years to come this highway, renamed the San Fernando road, would become one of the avenues of travel and trade between Los Angeles and the now thriving valley.

Scarcely more can present inhabitants visualize the changes that will come to San Fernando road with the passage of the years that lie ahead. But one thing is certain, the changes will be in the nature of rapid progress, as in the past for, as Los Angeles grows, and as the San Fernando valley grows, both in wealth and in population, the connecting link between these two great centers will become more and more a toll-gate yielding large profits to those holding property on or near it.

The figure of 20,000 cars a day passing over this highway in 1922 are given out by the statistical department of the Automobile Club of Southern California, after careful and accurate research. This figure is increasing rapidly, almost amazingly, and really men in the district, who have made a study of the situation, state with conviction that in another year the daily total of cars using the San Fernando road through the southern section of Glendale will be in excess of 25,000.

These men point out that San Fernando road is just entering upon a period of great activity and development, and they have good reasons for their belief. For one thing, this artery of traffic does not confine itself to any one city or section, but passes through an entire trade territory.

Another thing, they point out, is that here in Glendale there are three main north and south streets—San Fernando road, Brand boulevard and Glendale avenue. Logically, they contend, San Fernando road should have developed years ago into the paramount one of these arteries in importance, but that it was not pushed, while enterprising citizens got behind Brand boulevard and Glendale avenue and pushed these streets to their present position.

But San Fernando road has at last come into its own, and is coming fast, its natural advantage at last becoming recognized by property owners, realty men and investors and buyers generally. One of the mediums that has done a great deal to further this awakening is the South San Fernando Boulevard Improvement association, organized in the latter part of 1921, and, a wide-awake booster for its section from the very start, its president, L. H. Wilson, having steered its course directly into the mid-channel of progressive ideas—and kept it there.

The result is that some startling rises in property values have been registered along South San Fernando road and adjacent territory since 1921. In that year, the average price of frontage was $20. Today it ranges from $100 up, and way up in many instances—going higher every day.

"This rapid increase in values is due to no unwarranted inflation," says Mr. Wilson, in commenting on the situation. "It is caused, rather, by the sudden appreciation by the public at large of a set of sterling values that have existed here in this section for years. Perhaps the tremendous flow of traffic we enjoy over this highway caused people to wake up. Perhaps it was our strategic location, as regards Los Angeles, Hollywood, Burbank and Pasadena. At any rate, whatever it was, the people are awake now, and no mistake."

Here's Some Evidence
Some specific instances of rising values along So. San Fernando road will serve to illustrate Mr. Wilson's point. A piece of frontage at the northwest corner of Park and San Fernando, 150 feet, bought in 1920 for $4000, or $26 a front foot, said property improved with a five-room house and a large frame shop, has been offered and refused $15,000 recently.

The next corner north, at Pacific and San Fernando, 100 feet, just sold for $15,000 cash. The northeast corner of Garfield and San Fernando, 100 feet, bought in December, 1922, for $6000, was sold in February, 1923, for $10,950 and recently refused $3000 profit.

A frontage of 500 feet, bought in 1920 for $12 a front foot, was refused $125 a front foot fourteen months later, and today is valued at a much higher figure than that, and not for sale.

The southwest corner of Palmer and San Fernando, sold a year ago for $2500, is being held today for $9000 and will undoubtedly be sold at that price in the near future, unless taken off the "for sale" list.
WHAT IS NOW KNOWN AS THE GATEWAY MARKET, FORMERLY THE RICHARDSON ESTATE, WAS SUBDIVIDED IN 1921 AND SOLD FOR $12,000. ITS VALUE NOW IS PLACED AT $75,000. AND TWENTY-FIVE FOOT FRONT LOTS IN THIS TRACT THAT SOLD FOR $1250 EACH, ARE NOW RESELLING AROUND $200 A FRONT FOOT.

The northwest corner of Cerritos and San Fernando advanced from $4000 to $15,000 in one year and was lately refused $20,000.

The southeast corner of Brand and San Fernando, the Harry E. White property, has advanced over 300 per cent in less than two years.

These are facts, and can easily be verified, as can the contention of realtors in that section that residence property has kept pace with business frontage. On all the side streets growth has been rapid, nearly every lot on both sides of the streets being built on.

Fourteen Unit Court
A fourteen unit bungalow court is nearing completion on Park, between Central and San Fernando, at a total cost exceeding $35,000. And W. T. Burton is erecting a large apartment house at the corner of Central and Park, at a cost likewise exceeding $35,000.

In addition to this, many private dwellings are either going up or planned for the immediate future, while stores, shops and enterprises of many kinds are under way. A cement and pressed brick store building is being erected by L. H. Wilson, at 753-755 S. San Fernando road, for R. N. Burgdorf, at a cost of $7000. And Mr. Wilson is also erecting a three-story brick building, at 879-881 South San Fernando road, at a cost of $12,000, one store to be occupied by Joseph Caruso.

Seven other buildings in prospect, along S. San Fernando road, Glendale, will involve a total outlay of $150,000. In addition, a number of large industries are planning to locate plants in this district, among them the Los Angeles Creamery company, which has purchased four acres on Park, 150 feet west of San Fernando, upon which site a large concrete building will immediately be erected as a distributing depot, at a cost of $25,000. The Pat Higgins golf ball factory is well under way at 1012-1020 S. San Fernando road, and it is understood that $22,000 worth of up-to-date golf ball machinery (Continued on page 4)

Here's Official Program For Saturday Night

FOLLOWING is the schedule of events that will take place Saturday night, at the gateway of the city when hundreds gather to participate in the exercises dedicatory of the recently completed street lights on San Fernando road, that have made this vital traffic artery Glendale's new "White Way":

7:30—Mammoth motor parade, led by a jazz band, assembling on San Fernando road between Garfield and Windsor, going east on Windsor to Brand, north Brand to Mountain, west on Mountain to Central, south on Central to Broadway, east on Broadway to Colorado, west on Colorado to Brand, south on Brand to Glendale avenue, south on Glendale avenue to Colorado, west on Colorado to Brand, south on Brand to San Fernando road, and south to Garfield, where at 8:15—Mayor Spencer Robinson will throw the switch that gives the great new lights their official send-off, preceded by a dedicatory address.

8:30—Duet by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Girard.
8:40—Address by Peter Diederich, Supt. of light and power.

8:50—Address by Supervisor Henry W. Wright, of L. A. County Board of Supervisors.
9:00—Address by City Manager William H. Reeves.

This program will be followed by a dance at the Gateway Market, for which a special orchestra has been provided. The Thursday Afternoon club will be sponsors of the huge bonfire that will blaze in a vain attempt to rival the new lights. And H. L. Leavitt, who is conducting Glendale's forthcoming Industrial Exposition, will furnish the evening's festivities with a novel feature.

Refreshments have been provided on a scale adequate to all demands and will be furnished free to everyone.

The Future of Glendale Is Assured—but

What is your Future

What will it be ten years from now? Twenty? Will you have attained your goal or will you have dropped by the wayside?

These are interesting questions and not easy to answer.

But one thing is certain: Your decision today to start saving and to make it a habit will do more than any other one thing to put you on the road to success.

Start now and stick to it. Regularity and compound interest will do the rest. The view into the future will be clear and pleasant. Start Today!

GATEWAY BUILDING VERY ATTRACTIVE STRUCTURE

George B. Karr Is Owner And Enterprise Steadily Gains Big Success

The Gateway Building is located at the gateway to Glendale.

Two of the busiest thoroughfares in Southern California pass directly by this establishment, which has a frontage of 154 feet on the west side of Brand boulevard and 172 feet on the north side of San Fernando road.

George B. Karr is the owner of this building and he feels that he has a right to be proud of it, for his confidence in this section of the city, backed up by his capital, has been the means of stimulating much enterprise in Southern Glendale.

The site upon which this establishment is located is valued at $20,000. The brick building with its stucco exterior was erected by Contractor Roy L. Kent of 130 South Brand boulevard at a cost of $28,000. Fixtures and stock in the building probably run the total investment to well over $150,000.

The central portion of the interior is occupied by the Gateway Market. This is under the direct management of C. C. Casewell, who operates the meat department. The grocery department, which was recently consolidated with the delicatessen department, is leased to J. C. Olsen. In the rear is the bakery, which is owned by Ney T. Lee. Abe Fine and Max Goodman operate the fruit stand in the apex of the building, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Buttery manage the lunch counter, which fronts on San Fernando road.

The two stores on San Fernando road are occupied by the drug store of C. F. Tomkins and the Southern Glendale branch of the Wilson-Bell Hardware Company. The two stores on Brand boulevard are occupied by the salesroom of the Glendale Monument Works, which is owned by C. J. Ambrosch, and the local factory of the Baldwin Shirt Company.

The total floor space of the entire building is about 12,000 square feet. This is the equivalent to the floor space in a building with a depth of 120 feet and a frontage of 100 feet.

"Everybody down here seems to be doing a nice business," remarked Mr. Karr. "Things are very satisfactory around the Gateway Market."

Women Of Southern Section Work Unselfishly To Make Celebration Great Success

MANY public-spirited women of southern Glendale have labored unselfishly to make Saturday night's big dedicatory celebration a success. Banners, streamers and flags have been made and prepared, in addition to other decorations; refreshments have been planned for and gotten together; arrangements for the dance have been perfected; and in other ways almost too numerous to mention, "the ladies" have had an important part in making the affair the success the whole district is certain it is going to be.

Among the women who have helped materially are the following—Mrs. Roy Johnston, chairman of the decorating committee; Mrs. L. H. Wilson, chairman of the refreshments committee; Mrs. Charles J. Griffin, chairman of the dancing committee; and Mesdames Dolly Barnes, Fred Sunda, F. L. Schram, H. S. Cobb, John L. Rondon, D. L. Colley, S. A. Pollock, Shore, and Miss Cobb.

Mrs. Johnston reports that fifteen big streamers will be strung clear across San Fernando road, at suitable intervals, together with over fifty pennants, one on each of the new standards, and that there will be streamers down Los Feliz road, between the electric poles. She urges all stores in the neighborhood to "dress up" in suitable costume.

Mrs. Wilson gives out news that is of good cheer, namely—

there will be adequate supplies of coffee, doughnuts and other edibles, furnished free to all who turn out for the big rally. This information is expected to cause great rejoicing among members of the rising generation.

Mrs. Griffin states that arrangements have been made for a band and orchestra, the latter to furnish music for the dancing.

BANK IS PROOF OF DEVELOPMENT

Southern Section of City
Gives Liberal Patronage to Institution

The prosperity enjoyed by the Community Savings & Commercial bank at 1726 South San Fernando road is another evidence of the development and future possibilities of the southern section of the city of Glendale.

It was on Saturday, November 18, 1922, that the bank was formally opened, and since that date it has become an established institution, catering to the wants and needs of its many patrons. The need of a bank had long been felt among residents of southern Glendale and they have justified the establishment of the bank by loyal patronage.

Standing at the head of the administrative staff of the bank is W. W. Lee as president, also president of the Glendale National bank at Cypress avenue and Brand boulevard. Other officers and directors are John A. Logan, vice-president; H. J. Wellman, cashier; and members of the directing board, Daniel Campbell, chairman; Mrs. F. Bayha, George H. Bentley, George V. Black, Arthur Campbell, Hubert L. Eaton, George B. Karr, W. W. Lee and W. C. B. Richardson.

Modern Equipment
The building in which the bank is located was completed shortly before the bank was opened and afforded ample opportunity for fitting out the banking quarters ideally. The bank room is on the extreme west of the building, providing splendid lighting. Mahogany has been used in the fixtures, a desk and writing stand for patrons being located near the entrance, while a mahogany counter with dark marble inserts at the windows and a low desk leading into the offices runs across the width of the room.

Modern office equipment and a large burglar-proof safe and a fire-proof safe are also installed in the bank.

Announcement has been made that the bank is soon to start on building a home of its own, on the San Fernando road.

ALL GLENDALE SHOULD UNITE AND TAKE PART IN GATEWAY'S BIG CELEBRATION

TESTIFYING to the enterprise of the people of the southern district of Glendale, tomorrow's celebration should emphasize the relation that section bears to the city as a whole and its importance in our advancement. We who wish to see Glendale's wonderful possibilities developed to the utmost must realize that every part of the city must play a role in the great drama and each partake of the benefits that result. We all know of the unusual advantages our city has to offer as a residential, business and industrial center, but, while Glendale has become one of the most widely advertised cities in the United States owing to the marvelous achievements in recent years, there are many people living here in southern California who have never taken the trouble to investigate the extent of Glendale's advancement. They do not realize that such a transformation could take place in such a short time.

So it is the outsider, the stranger, the tourist, the home-seeker, we wish to reach with the story of Glendale's greatness. And there are hundreds of people who pass through Glendale daily by way of the San Fernando Road and the Southern Pacific who never see Glendale's Brand and Broadway business sections, who can only glimpse at a distance the big estates that overlook the city from the north, who do not know of the flower-surrounded homes sheltered by the hills on the east, who never dream of the beauty or the possibilities in the canyon district of Glendale. All they see is the extreme southern or the extreme western parts of the city. Passing through by motor or train they are told, "This is Glendale."

How important then that every means should be employed to make these sections inviting and beautiful!

How necessary that everyone in Glendale should get behind every movement that means the adorning or the enriching of those districts! How necessary that the development of the San Fernando Road section be such as to inspire admiration in those who traverse that boulevard as they go up and down the state.

First impressions count for much and if the wayfarers like the looks of what they can see as they journey through Glendale they may be impelled to come back and see what further good things the city has to offer.

From the Gateway travelers see Glendale's front yard. It is necessary to our good reputation as a city that our lawn be green and neatly trimmed, that our shrubbery and flowers be artistically arranged and well watered and cultivated. When you see an attractive front yard don't you always have a desire to stroll through the grounds and see what new and charming vistas the landscape gardener has planned for those who take the trouble to investigate?

So it is necessary that Glendale as a unit take part wholeheartedly in this celebration. It is necessary that we express our appreciation of any plan of advancement the people of the Gateway section put forth and that we work with them in their efforts to secure any improvement that will help to beautify Glendale's front yard.

The Glendale Evening News joins with the Gateway people in rejoicing over the new lights and congratulates them on the public spirit they are displaying in celebrating the occasion.

Spooning Raises Ire Of Oregonian Farmer

PORTLAND, Ore., April 27.—A new harbinger of spring has made its appearance in Portland. Youth, whose "fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love," is the sufferer in the new drive inaugurated by residents along outlying boulevards, who are determined to exterminate automobile spooners and petting parties.

One resident, whose beautiful six-acre tract of land fronts along a particularly inviting road, is so exasperated that he worked for weeks in placing huge logs along the road to prevent automobiles from parking. He has built a barbed-wire fence to shut out love-makers from utilizing his property as a rendezvous and trysting place.

"This is not comedy—it's stark tragedy," he stated. "This spooning and petting is a bad example for my children and neighbors. I was kept awake all last spring by voices of lovers under my windows."

WM. GRIFFIN IS CIVIC BOOSTER

One of the First Property Owners to Urge Light System; Boosts Sewers

William Griffin of 806 South San Fernando road has the honor of having been one of the organizers and the first president of the San Fernando Boulevard Improvement association.

"I have not a thing to find fault with San Fernando road," he remarked recently, "I think it is going to be one of the finest business streets in Southern California. It has an enormous future ahead of it and I think we have a bunch of men down here now who are going to bring it into its own."

Mr. Griffin was one of the first property owners in his vicinity to urge the installation of the ornamental lights which will be illuminated at tomorrow's celebration. He is well pleased with their appearance and feels that the effort to secure them was well expended.

One thing that Glendale needs badly, in the estimation of Mr. Griffin, is a sewer system. He said that he did not care how soon they tore up San Fernando road to lay the trunk line.

For Sewer System

"The sooner we get a sewer here the better, he asserted. "We ought to concentrate our effort toward this necessity because we are living over dynamite at present."

Owing to the volume of traffic over Pacific avenue and Los Feliz road, Mr. Griffin believes that San Fernando road between these two streets should be widened. He regards this district as the "heart of San Fernando road." About 50 per cent of the southbound traffic now divides at Los Feliz road, part going to Los Angeles and part to Brand boulevard. About 25 per cent of the northbound traffic continues northward on Pacific avenue. Mr. Griffin believes that making Pacific avenue a through street from San Fernando road to Burchett street would be a fine civic improvement.

Rope on Engineer's Leg Controls Engine

CADIZ, Ohio, April 27.—A unique system of signaling has been adopted on a locomotive sent here to temporarily replace Engine No. 18137, which has been used for years on the Cadiz branch of the Pennsylvania railroad. The Cadiz branch became famous when former President Taft's special train stalled in that line during the 1912 campaign.

The locomotive sent to take the place of the old-timer is of the type used on freight runs, and has no compressed air signaling line for use by the conductor in notifying the engineer when to start or stop the train.

Accordingly, the engineer obtained a piece of rope, attached to the line running through the coaches and fastened the other end to his leg. The conductor's yank on the bellcord likewise pulls the engineer's leg. The system works very successfully, without unduly stretching the leg, it is said.

The average life of a locomotive is twenty years, but Engine No. 18137, built in the Pennsylvania shops at Altoona in 1891, is still good for many years of service. It has been sent to the company's shops for repairs after thirty-two years' service.

Thieves Warn Victim Not to Tell Police

BARNESVILLE, O., April 27.—M. H. Persons hid $125 in his phonograph. Opening the "bank" one day, Persons found a letter announcing that if he said nothing about the "loan," the "borrowers" would return the money within a year. If he informed the police—the letter stated the "borrowers" would "have nothing more to do" with him "for life."

BALDWIN SHIRT CO. BRANCH HERE

Many People From Middle West Happy to Secure Product in City

The Baldwin Shirt Company's plant at 1725 South Brand boulevard has the reputation of being "one of the fastest growing industries in the fastest growing city in America."

This company was organized in 1889 in Baldwin, Kan., the home of Baker University, and was named after "the community in which it was first established. In 1905 George B. Karr, who was then boosting for Kansas just as hard and as thoroughly as he is now boosting for California, acquired a controlling interest. Two years later he moved the main plant to his home—in Parsons, Kan."

About two years ago the opium of the California poppy overwhelmed the brilliance of the Kansas sunflower, and George B. Karr migrated to California with the intention of establishing a branch of his business in the vicinity of Los Angeles. After looking over the suburban field carefully, he decided to cast his lot with Glendale—and Glendale is glad of it.

The local factory is housed in the north side of the building occupied by the Gateway Market. It has a frontage of thirty feet on Brand boulevard and a depth of 100 feet. One of the features of the interior is its high ceiling, with a skylight and a row of windows which insure plenty of natural light and ventilation.

Plenty of Customers
The Baldwin Shirt Company's local factory now numbers ten expert operators, each of which is mistress of a power machine, and six salesmen, who cover the Southern California and Arizona territory. R. W. Dick of 424 West Windsor road, whose father, S. M. Dick, is manager of the plant at Parsons, is manager of the local factory. George B. Karr says that he doesn't count.

About 25,000 yards of cloth will be used this year by this company, which owns a large stock of domestic and imported shirtings. It is now manufacturing about 250 shirts a week and expects in a few years to equal the home plant's production of 1,000 shirts a week.

"We are finding lots of our customers from the middle west out here in California," remarked Mr. Karr recently. "They have moved westward just the same as we have. Every once in a while one of them will write back to Parsons to re-order some shirts, not knowing that we have a branch right at their doorsteps."

$250,000 Stadium Will Honor Hawaiian Prince

HONOLULU, T. H., April 27.—Appropriation of a fund of $250,000 for the erection of a huge athletic stadium in Honolulu as a memorial to the late Prince Jonah Kūhiō Kalanianaʻole (Prince "Cupid"), who for twenty years was Hawaii's delegate in the federal congress, is provided in a bill introduced in the territorial legislature by Representative W. K. Hussey.

The project for the erection of a memorial stadium has been under discussion for some months past, but it had been proposed to raise the necessary money by public subscription.

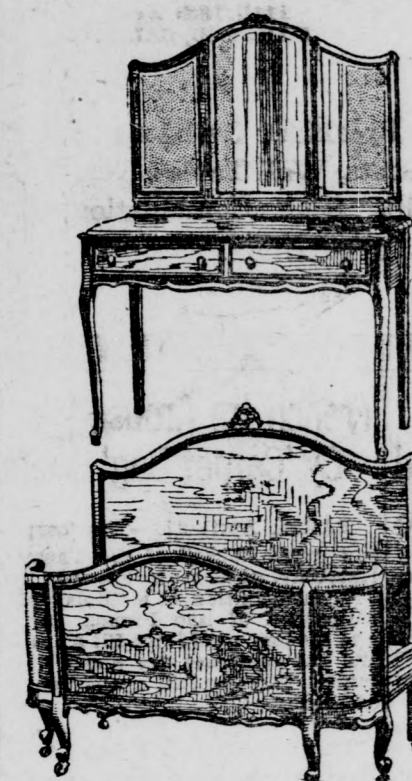

"Prince Cupid," in his younger days, was a noted athlete and excelled in swimming and track sports. During his entire life he encouraged the development of athletics in Hawaii as a means of rehabilitating the Hawaiian race.

ANCIENT VIOLIN

PORTLAND, Ind., April 27.—A Jacob Steiner violin, made in 1645, is in every-day use in the home of William Bond, owner of a local laundry. The violin has been in constant use during its 278 years of existence.

Bohemian Life Still Popular in England

LONDON, April 27.—Although the press hails many artists' deaths with "the last of the Bohemians," Bohemia still flourishes here. For instance there is John Flannigan who starved before he became so famous that he could not fill the portrait orders he got. He still refuses to wear a collar or buy a new suit. He is one of a group of noted artists who still cling to "the old life."

French Ire Aroused
By 'Carpet Bag' Opera

PARIS, April 27.—The 'carpet bag opera house' of the Theatre Kamerny, of Moscow, has won the French definition as a "Bolshevist perversion of fine French art." The scenery would not fill a trunk and the costumes are about the same. It represents a new school of art.

Many Chinese mothers dress their boy babies as girls in the hope of fooling the evil spirits.

BEVERAGE PLANT WINS POPULARITY

Green Hill Label Is Well Known; S. W. Brown
Owner of Concern

Wherever Green Hill Beverages are sold Glendale is a familiar word, for these products of fast increasing popularity come from the S. W. Brown Beverage Company at 463 West Los Feliz road.

The Brown factory was constructed early in the year 1922, and since opening for operation has experienced most gratifying success.

Mr. Brown has in his employ ten workers, who are experts in their lines, and are kept constantly busy filling the countless orders received daily through the company office.

Products of the Brown factory are all labeled Green Hill Beverages, and include the well-known Green Hill gingerale, chocolate malted milk, brewed ginger beer, and a full line of carbonated true fruit beverages and root beer.

One of the big features of the Green Hill products is that they need no preservatives, since they are all put through a thorough process of pasteurization, which keeps them at 150 degrees of heat for forty minutes.

A motion picture film showing the bottling processes is now in progress and will show the carbonization, sterilization, pasteurization and other phases of the work.

More machinery is now on its way to the factory, and when it is installed the film will be completed and will be shown in Glendale and throughout the United States as an educational feature.

The electric elevator was invented in 1887.

ROY JOHNSTON IS PIONEER OF CITY

Well Known Plumber, Also Prominent as Booster
For Boulevard

Roy Johnston of 1133 South San Fernando road spends a portion of his time at his trade as an A. No. 1 plumber and the balance of his time at his other profession—boosting San Fernando road.

Although Mr. Johnston was born in Youngstown, Ohio, he came to Southern California with his parents at an early age. He has been a resident of this vicinity since 1887. He can remember way back when, as a boy, he trudged out over the hills from Los Angeles along San Fernando boulevard, which was then a dirt road, in order to get fruit and to take advantage of a swimming hole in a bend of the Los Angeles river. For the past three years he has remained permanently in Glendale.

J. B. Johnston, who for seventeen years was a plumbing inspector for the City of Los Angeles, lives with his son. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Johnston have three daughters, Ethel, who is twelve and attends the Glendale Avenue Intermediate school; Rita, who is ten and unable to attend school because of a serious accident to her back some months ago from which she is recovering; and Mollie, who is a year and a half old, and known as "The Baby of San Fernando road."

Roy Johnston is one of the charter members of the San Fernando Boulevard Improvement association. He is one of the most active property owners of his vicinity in the promotion of civic affairs. He was one of the first to see the value of proper illumination for San Fernando road, and his effort had a large part in making possible tomorrow's celebration.

"Good lights bring people and business," he remarked recently. "Go to any community and you will find that the best lighted streets are the busiest."

According to Mr. Johnston, the amount of traffic that now passes on San Fernando road is amazing. He stated that the procession of trucks and passenger automobiles between Los Angeles and the San Fernando valley over this highway is endless. He added that it is a twenty-four hour a day parade, too.

BROKERAGE FIRM BOOSTS BUSINESS

Opens First of Month, Sees Bright Prospects For Steady Growth

One of the youngest places of business in the southern section of the city is the Glendale Brokerage Company, located at 452½ West Los Feliz road.

This business was opened the first of this month by M. A. Schurman and E. N. Krull, who are enthusiastic over business prospects.

"We realize that business down here is good," they say, "but we are not planning on sitting calmly down and letting business come to us. We're out in our own interests and are after every bit of business in sight."

Mr. Schurman has been in the brokerage business for years, and came to Glendale from New York. Mr. Krull, who is from San Francisco, has had experience as an employee of the Goodrich, Federal and Savage tire companies as well as with the Western Auto Supply Company.

Exclusive Agents
The Glendale Brokerage Company is the exclusive agent for Sampson tires in this territory. They also handle Goodrich tires and transact automobile loans and sell used Fords.

"We are featuring our service," says Mr. Krull, "we're open day and night, 365 days in the year!"

Somehow or other, the garden given over to weeds by the owner's indifference reminds us of this republic.

W. H. Alkire's Shop Turns Out Number of Features of Unusual Merit

Glendale has many advantages as a manufacturing center, according to Walter H. Alkire, whose cabinet shop at 1533 South San Fernando road is devoted to the manufacture of Dexter Ironing Boards and built-in features.

"We are handy to the station here, and when we want to make a shipment, which is about every day, we don't have to spend all day getting to and from the railroad station," he remarked. "Another thing, a factory here is much more convenient for its employees. They can come here in their own automobiles in a few minutes and don't have to spend half an hour or an hour on the trip to and from work. Of course, that makes them more efficient."

Although Mr. Alkire's business has only been established since January 6, its volume has increased from $1000 to $12,000 a month—and is still growing rapidly. It has used two whole carloads of Oregon pine so far this month and expects to use a great many more feet of lumber next month.

Reason For Success

Products of this local concern consist of ironing boards of various sizes, breakfast tables, medicine cabinets, telephone cabinets, coolers and broom closets and other built-in features.

"The reason we have had such a success," stated Mr. Alkire, "is we use patent 'iron' and our tables and ironing boards have no obstructions under them. We make everything of the very best material and quality is our motto. Dexter Ironing Boards and built-in features are now being shipped to many of the towns of Southern California. A large quantity of them are sold for big contracts in Los Angeles. A number have been shipped to Chicago and an order for 4000 ironing boards has been received from New York City."

RESPONSIBLE FOR HOME BEAUTIFUL*Russell-Pierce Company Is Steadily Expanding Store, Furniture FactoryFurnishing of the "home beautiful" is the work and interest of L. W. Russell and R. E. Pierce of the Russell-Pierce Furniture store and factory, located at the corner of Central avenue and San Fernando road.The success of these young business men, since the opening of their plant two and a half years ago, may best be measured by the scope of their orders, which takes in all parts of Glendale, Hollywood, Pasadena, Los Angeles and the surrounding beach towns.Perhaps the first thing that impresses the visitor at the Russell-Pierce plant is the adequate space for display purposes. A large room at present houses the living and dining room furniture and another room the rugs, boudoir and other furniture, springs and mattresses, and work is now under way to augment this floor space by the addition of 1,600 feet to a total display space of 10,000 square feet.Varied Assortment
In these display rooms the patrons find a wide and varied assortment of overstuffed pieces, with samples of tapestries and other popular materials to harmonize with any modern home;
period dining room furniture, floor lamps with attractive shades;
boudoir sets, rugs, springs, mattresses and kitchen and breakfast nook pieces.Of course these are all to be found in the modern furniture store, but added features of the Russell-Pierce store are the painting room, equipped with an air brush; mill room with every modern equipment; and the cabinet room, also completely equipped, all adjacent to the display rooms.With the completion of the additions now contemplated Mr.
Russell and Mr. Pierce are planning on handling a line of second-hand furniture and will be prepared to give estimates to home owners desirous of disposing of used pieces and buying new ones.The dependability of Russell-Pierce service is seen in the orders they receive for completely furnishing homes, apartment houses and bungalow courts in Glendale and neighboring cities.WHITE PLANT IS BIG INVESTMENT*District Agent For Reo Has Establishment Most Modern, EfficientA junction of three of the busiest streets in Southern California is occupied by the establishment of Harry E. White, Inc.Thousands of motorists, who traverse Brand boulevard, San Fernando road and Glendale avenue pass the triangle upon which is located the garage and sales-room of Harry E. White, Inc., and many of them pass favorable comment upon the neatness and attractiveness of its premises.The total investment in this establishment amounts to approximately $125,000. Of this sum about $100,000 represents real estate and the buildings upon it, while the additional $25,000 represents the modern equipment and a large stock of accessories.Harry E. White is district agent for the Reo and his organization has succeeded in building up a trade that reaches a large figure monthly. This firm has the local agency for the Cletrac, the miniature but powerful tractor that is in general favor by both contractors and farmers.The plant has a frontage of 180 feet on the east side of Brand boulevard, 150 feet on the north side of San Fernando road, and 100 feet on the south side of Forrest avenue. It spreads out somewhat like a fan and has a breadth of 250 feet in the rear.Makes For Efficiency Immediately in front of the establishment are the gasoline pumps with transparent gasoline tanks of the latest model. Spacious driveways provide easy access to them from all directions.The rest of the plant is built around a large open court which is really an open air garage. A large portion of it is sheltered from inclement weather. The salesroom, which lies along San Fernando road, has space for a large number of models of the Reo and Cletrac. The mechanical department is located in the building along Forrest avenue. This is equipped with modern garage machinery and a traveling crane which can be shifted to any part of the shop. This eliminates all pit work in handling repair jobs.Harry E. White, Inc., has one of the most efficient establishments of its kind in Glendale.I. W. W. INVASIONSEATTLE, April 27.—Members of the I. W. W. continued to arrive here following the calling of a general strike. Between 300 and 400 arrived during the night, according to police. Although no trouble is expected, the local police department will double its force on the waterfront, according to Chief of Police Severins.
The only arrest thus far occurred when Morgan A. Roch, a seaman, was jailed for distributing handbills which stated the strike was called to effect the release of political prisoners.BENTLEY LUMBER COMPANY AIDS IN CITY BUILDING*Concern Plays Important Part In Construction Work Of GlendaleAmong the business firms in the southern part of Glendale that have kept abreast of the progress of the city and that have helped, in many ways, to blaze the trail to the success that the city has reached, may be listed the Bentley Lumber Company of 460 West Los Feliz road, which started in January, 1914, a one team delivery system and that has grown until, today, its deliveries call for the use of seven motor trucks, which may be said to epitomize the growth of the firm better than any other fact that could be told.The concern started in 1914 after buying out the business of the Valley Lumber Company and started business under the style of the Bentley-Schoeneman Lumber Company, under which name it was conducted until last year, when the Schoeneman interests were acquired by John Bentley and his sons, who now conduct the firm under its present name. John Bentley is president of the firm.J. Ray Bentley is vice-president and general manager; Roger Bentley is vice-president and yard superintendent; and George H.
Bentley is the treasurer.The company's plant covers a three-acre site and the stocks that are carried on hand in the yards seldom vary more than a few thousand feet from the 2,000,000 foot figure that the firm has to maintain in order to be sure of meeting all the demands that are made on it with lumber that is in the rightAssociation In Favor Of Securing Bridge To Connect Glendale And Griffith ParkTHE San Fernando-Boulevard Improvement Association is heartily indorsing the movement to get a bridge thrown over the Los Angeles river, connecting Glendale with marvelous Griffith park, the largest city park in the United States, larger even than famous Fairmount park, Philadelphia."Griffith park, with its 3751 acres of varied and beautiful hillside, valley and woodland terrain," says L. H. Wilson, president of the association and one of Glendale's park commissioners, "is nearer to Glendale than it is either to Los Angeles or to Hollywood. Its distance from Los Angeles is seven miles, from Hollywood three miles, while it is less than a mile from Glendale.""When it is considered that Griffith park is a public playground, although the property of the city of Los Angeles, and that everyone has an equal right to enjoy its many advantages, the significance of our nearness to this natural scenic paradise is apparent.""Here we are, just a stone's throw from the largest park in the country, separated from it by only a small river, that engineers agree can be bridged without excessive cost, either at Park or at Colorado street. Is it any wonder that the public are petitioning for such a bridge to be erected?"Mr. Wilson refers to two petitions, totaling over 500 signatures, addressed to the Los Angeles City Council, by citizens of west Glendale and Los Angeles, urging Los Angeles to get together with Glendale and put over a bridge at some convenient point.Many cities pay hundreds of thousands of dollars, some millions of dollars, to acquire adequate parks, it is pointed out, while here in Glendale a unique opportunity is afforded to enjoy at no cost whatever, all the advantages of the nation's greatest municipal playground, simply by the expedient of erecting a bridge from some strategic point in Glendale to a parallel point, on the other side, within the park.It is particularly desirable that such a move should be made at this time, residents feel, inasmuch as Glendale has just lost its park at Verdugo Woodlands and has at present practically no convenient place where its people may go for public recreation.It is believed that this movement for a bridge connectingRealty Values Show

OXFORD RUNNERS TO MEET YANKS

Englishmen Will Be Lucky To Finish In Third Place, Predicted

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service
PHILADELPHIA, April 27.—
The moot question of whether the shank of an Englishman can outstep that of a Yank will be determined this afternoon. The occasion will be the annual relay games of the University of Pennsylvania on Franklin field, where the two mile international run and the sprint medley relay, representing Oxford university, England, versus the field of American colleges, will come down to a definite decision just as it did in 1914 and again in 1920.

British Won Before
In those years, it was a British chest that broke the tape, but, according to the best local minds, this cannot happen again. The good word is that Oxford will be lucky to finish third among Syracuse, Georgetown, Kansas, Ohio State, Pennsylvania and others in the sprint medley and that C. B.
Morgan, the Oxford distance-runner, has not the chance of a steam roller in the two mile event. Morgan, they say, is a perfectly good cross country man, but lacks the speed to step two miles with Walter Higgins of Columbus, or Walter Helm of Georgetown.

Oxford, of course, will be dangerous in the sprint medley.

CONGREGATIONAL MEN FORM CLUB

H. C. Wilcox Is Chosen As President; Pastor Tells of Future Aims

The Congregational Men's club of Glendale was organized last night, following a dinner of men of the First Congregational church, the announced purpose of the club being the promotion of the welfare of the church and the community, with especial interest in furthering an active program for the men and boys of the neighborhood.

The formation of this club followed a temporary organization, formed following a preliminary meeting last week, and followed the plans laid out by the committee on organization, comprising Messrs. H. W. Yarrick, C. L. Peckham and E. L. Schuyler.

A constitution was discussed and adopted, at last night's meeting, and the following officers were elected: H. C. Wilcox, president;
R. G. Boyles, vice-president;
R. M. Payne, secretary, and W.
Q. Widows, treasurer.

"The Congregational Men's club is not limited in membership to members of the church," states President Wilcox, "but rather holds its doors open to all men of the neighborhood and community older than 18 years of age. Active work of a juvenile, religious and social order will be undertaken, and we pledge enthusiastic support of the men's class in the Bible school of the church."

Future Activities
Discussing the field of future activities of the new club, Rev.
Charles M. Calderwood said:
"The splendid support of these men will mean much to our community. With the completion of our new building, we have available a completely equipped edifice devoted to the service of Glendale."

"We do not want this plant, representing such an extensive investment of capital, to be at work but one day a week. Rather, we want it to be earning spiritual dividends for the people of this city seven days out of every week, and I am confident that the Congregational Men's club can lay out and organize a campaign of activities that will maintain our plant at capacity production."

suit against Ruth by Miss Dolores Dixon was the result of a conspiracy, they were served with papers dropping the suit.

Miss Dixon had charged Ruth with seduction and alleged he was the father of her child.
Hyman Bushell, Ruth's attorney, had received permission of the court to present the testimony of Robert McChesney, a young man who formerly lived in the apartment occupied by Miss Dixon and the married couple with whom she made her home.

The papers serving notice that the suit was dropped were signed by Miss Dixon, Mrs. Barbara V.
Eschew, her guardian, and George Feinberg, her attorney.

TAGGING ALL BASES

Esteemed K. M. Landis was one of 25,000 fans who saw the Giants trim the Boston Braves, 7 to 3, in the first home game on the Polo grounds.

Coming to life, the Brooklyn Dodgers ran wild and defeated the Phillies, 14 to 4.

Osborne of the Cubs was knocked out of the box by the Pirates, Pittsburgh winning easily,
7 to 2.

A record crowd for Detroit—36,000—saw the St. Louis Browns nose out the Tigers in the ninth inning, score 4 to 3.

President Harding and 22,000 other fans witnessed a 2 to 1 pitching battle between Harris of the Athletics and Zachary of Washington, Zachary winning, 2
to 1.

JUNK YARD PLAN DRAWS PROTESTS

Attorneys Clash at Council Over Application of Auto Wreckers

When is a junk yard not a junk yard? This was the subject of an attorneys' verbal battle last night before the city council.

Application was received from H. Dvorken and M. Dassoff to move their business from 418 East Broadway into their new $4,500 building at 1008 East Broadway, and "to engage in, conduct, manage or carry on the business of second-hand dealer and of junk dealer."

A protest against the granting of such application was received, also. It was signed by practically every property owner in the vicinity on the grounds that the establishment "would be an eyesore and would completely disfigure any value of property in the district."

Attorney W. C. Anspach of 111
East Broadway, stated emphatically that his clients were not engaged in the business of handling "junk" at all, and that the only reason this word had been used in the application was because of the technical wording of the city ordinance covering the business of dismantling automobiles. He assured the council that the establishment would be conducted in such a manner that it would not be in the least objectionable.

Lawyer Protests
Attorney Oliver O. Clark of 346
North Louise street made a talk in which he stated that the establishment of such a business at the contemplated address, first, would be unfair to all residents of the city of Glendale because it would create an unfavorable impression upon visitors coming into the city over Broadway, and, second, it would be unfair to property owners in the vicinity because it would decrease the value of their property. He asserted that, if automobiles which are towed into a wrecking yards to be dismantled are not junk, he was not familiar with junk.

The city council laid the subject on the table until Monday night.

LA CRESCENTA

IMPROVEMENTS TO BE ON PROGRAM

a Crescenda Association to Hold Meeting On Next Thursday Night

The La Crescenda Improvement association will hold its regular monthly meeting at the school auditorium next Thursday night. They will continue the discussion of road improvements, etc., and other very important matters.

Last week's meeting was a special one called to discuss the outrose avenue situation.

H. R. Poush and Martin Swen are congratulating themselves on still being in the land of the living.

Their automobile turned over a one hundred foot embankment on an Altadena road.

Mr. Poush, being thrown from the car as it fell, escaping serious injury, but Mr. Poush, being less fortunate, fell to the bottom of a canyon and is suffering from a fractured rib and other injuries.

Dr. Lucien Turner held her regular weekly health class for ladies last night at Mrs. Mark Collins' home.

The ladies exercise to the music of the phonograph and are doing their daily dozen faithfully. There is still room for a few new pupils.

Howard & Merwin Realty company has leased the well-known estate office of Collins & Klinghast, corner of Los Angeles and Honolulu. This property is now owned by H. E. Bruce, who operates the Times and Examiner agencies in the valley, and was rumored he, himself, would go into the real estate business and occupy the office.

is not so, however, and the Howard Merwin firm will take office over on the first of May.

C. C. Keefe is expecting to open a service station on Santa Monica boulevard in the near future.

The Church Building community fund is $110 richer than at this time last week. Just $120 were the gate receipts at the benefit concert given on Wednesday night, the total expenses were a modest sum of $10 for hauling the piano.

All of the artists gave their services free of charge.

La Crescenda school had a sit this week from its new principal, Mr. Blanford. He will succeed Mrs. Austin, who will have been here two years at the conclusion of the present term.

DROP INN FOOD

LURES PATRONS

More Than 300 Patrons Are Served Daily, and Prices
Made Reasonable

Homer Roberts and W. H. Cobb, of the Drop Inn, 1116 South San Fernando road, are proud of the patronage they have built up in the eight months they have been in business at the above address.

Starting very modestly, last August, they have developed their restaurant and soda fountain to the point where today over 300 patrons are served daily, a very good class of trade being catered to at surprisingly reasonable prices, the proprietors state.

Perhaps the principal reason they have been so successful is that the food they have served has been so good, being scrupulously clean and cooked after home recipes in a most appetizing manner.

Another reason for their success may be found in the pleasing personality of Messrs. Roberts and Cobb, while the attractiveness of the place and the neat booths of offering privacy while eating, have undoubtedly had their share in bringing patronage.

CHILD, 12, SEEKS

SUICIDE'S DEATH

Brother of Condemned Man, Stricken by Sorrow, Attempts Hanging

LAFAYETTE, Ga., April 27.—Burdened with grief heavier than his boy's heart could bear, Elbert Thomas Baker, 12-year-old brother of George Baker, whose life the state claims, attempted suicide today by hanging.

When he learned the last resource had been exhausted to save George from the noose, he climbed a tree in the Baker family yard, knotted a clothes line to a limb, tightened the rope about his neck and jumped from the tree.

MENTAL DISEASES

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Work is being rushed on five hospitals to accommodate 1,950 veterans of the world war suffering from mental diseases, the war department has announced.

The 400-bed hospital at Knoxville, Iowa, will be ready on August 14. The other hospitals with their dates of completion are: American Lake, Wash., 350 beds, October 10; Chillicothe, Ohio, 400 beds, December 15; Northampton, Mass., 400 beds, February 9, 1924; Camp Custer, Mich., 500 beds, July 6, 1924.

STUDENT SLAIN
IN MOTOR CRASH

Death Results From Bitter
College Feud Of Two
Years' Standing

CHICAGO, April 27.—Louis Aubere, Northwestern University freshman student, is dead here today and Ralph Williams, Harlan, Ky., another student at the university, was believed to be dying in a hospital following an automobile crash here early today which climaxed a bitter class war at the school. Seven other persons were hurt in the crash, one of them, Mrs. Arthur D. Winslow, Wilmette, was badly cut by flying glass.

The crash resulted when James Leahy, driving an automobile laden with freshmen students at high speed, dashed in front of a car driven by Mrs. Winslow. The students' automobile was flung into a ditch. The student car was trying to block the path of a car filled with sophomores.

The crash is the climax, according to university students, of bitter class hatred which had its beginning in the fall of 1921, of Leighton Hunt, a Northwestern student, who has never been seen since. Yesterday Dick Howell, prominent athlete, and also a freshman, was kidnapped.

An unidentified dead woman was found to be a Mrs. Brewster, a tenant on the third floor. Miss Bertha Kuxis was to have been married to Edward Aaron on June 17. She had spent Wednesday visiting her sweetheart's family and Thursday visiting another family in Harlem. She returned to her home last night.

Most of the victims were women and children. One whole family was annihilated. This was the family of Mr. and Mrs. Kuxis, both of whom were killed along with their two children, Bertha, aged 21, and David, aged 19.

Mrs. Mandelbaum and her six children all met death on the top floor. The young victims were Minnie, 15; Michael, 12; Morris, 10; Benjamin, 8; Alexander, 4, and a baby aged 18 months.

EAGLE ROCK

SCHOOL PAGEANT TO HONOR WRITER

Hans Andersen Anniversary
Will Be Celebrated
On May 5

The 1923 May Day is to be followed by many beautiful and significant events, chief of which will be the pageant to be presented May 5 at Elysian Park by the school children of Los Angeles, in commemoration of the anniversary of Hans Christian Andersen.

More than 1000 children are to take part, and sixty students of the Central school have been asked to share in the day's festivities, inasmuch as Eagle Rock is to become a part of Los Angeles. This pageant is given each year by the Los Angeles schools, and is said to be one of the most beautiful spectacles in Southern California. "End of the Rainbow" is the title of the number Eagle Rock is to offer, under the sponsoring of the Parent-Teachers' association.

Miss Evelyn Dawn Thomas, who has already shown her artistic ability in directing children's dances, is lending her services as director, and will have complete charge of the Eagle Rock portion of the pageant.

A beautiful May queen is to be chosen from the upper grades of the Central school, it is announced. In addition there will be costumes showing "a shower of rain drops," "the green grass blades," "a living rainbow," and "ten different spring blossoms." These costumes are said to be superb creations of silk crepe paper, the colors so combined as to make the whole most effective.

Miss Marian Lippold, a student of the eighth grade, is furnishing the piano accompaniment. Mrs. Charles Wentworth and Mrs. Frank Parker are to make the costumes.

Charge of Speeding

"I was not driving over 15 miles an hour" declared Mrs. John Hays Hammond, wife of one of America's most prominent men, when encountered by the hand of the law in Eagle Rock yesterday, following the arrest of her chauffeur by Officer Ted McNahan, on a charge of exceeding, by a margin of 21 miles, the 15 mile an hour speed limit.

Mrs. Hammond's chauffeur is booked to appear in court tomorrow at 9:30 o'clock. Motor cycle officers, it is understood, enforce some strictness as to whether or not Mrs. Hammond will face the charge in court, or allow the settlement to be made through her chauffeur.

John Hays Hammond has held a place of prominence in the public eye for the past thirty years. In the 1880's, he was an expert in the United States Geological Survey, and has examined mining fields in all parts of the world. He was consulting engineer for South Africa from 1893 to 1896. In 1911 Hammond was appointed to represent the United States government at the coronation of George V., of England. He is at present making his home at Santa Barbara.

Will Give Play

"Clarence" Bath, Washington's masterpiece, to be presented by the Eagle Rock Community Players on May 9 and 10, at the Central school, is to be a most satisfactory presentation, if early rehearsals can be taken as promise of the finished product, is the word given out by the board of directors of the Players.

A few slight changes have been made in the personnel of the cast. Miss Ruth Mason, well known here, is to take the part of Violet; Helen Miller will assume the role of Della, the maid; while Mrs. Essie Davis Koen, one of the most successful Parent-Teachers' association workers of Eagle Rock, is to play the part of the jealous wife, Mrs. Wheeler.

Plans are under way for the staging of a poster contest, but definite announcement in this matter is to be made later. Children of the upper grades at the grammar schools will be the chief participants in the contest.

The Parent-Teachers' Association dollar drive came to a close today, with evidence that there will still be an aftermath the first of next week. The committee in charge has not yet announced the outcome of the campaign, further than to state that donations have been numerous and generous. This drive was held for the purpose of clearing the Parent-Teachers' Association of debt, before the merging with Los Angeles, the debt having been incurred when the school children's cafeteria was enlarged to better accommodate the young patrons.

HOLDS UP PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Fearing that the elevation of the sun turrets of American warships to increase their firing range would lead to a protest from Great Britain on the ground that the United States had violated the terms of the Washington naval treaty, President Harding has ordered that the navy's modernization program be held in abeyance pending action by the next congress, it was announced officially at the navy department today.

REPORT CONFIRMED

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The state department has received official confirmation of the appointment of Ramon Ross as commissioners to represent Mexico in negotiations with the United States looking toward recognition of the Obregon government. Exclusive announcement of these appointments was made by International News Service.

VINDICATES AGENT

CHICAGO, April 27.—United States Attorney Edwin A. Olson today vindicated Roscoe C. Andrews, suspended prohibition director of Illinois, as blameless in connection with the transfer of the $200,000 liquor stock of Grommes and Ullrich from their warehouse April 6, to homes of Chicago business men. Olson's statement followed an investigation which resulted today in federal indictments of the Grommes and Ullrich corporation, and seven individuals, for conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act. Mr. Olson said there was no ulterior motive in Andrews signing the transfer permits.

TOTAL FOR LIGHTS

The total cost of the new lights on San Fernando road was $14,800. The operating cost, which will be paid out of general taxation, will be $12,000 per year. This reduces down to a cost of $15 per year for a fifty-foot lot.

STUDENT SLAIN
IN MOTOR CRASH

Death Results From Bitter
Years' Standing

CHICAGO, April 27.—Louis Aubere, Northwestern University freshman student, is dead here today and Ralph Williams, Harlan, Ky., another student at the university, was believed to be dying in a hospital following an automobile crash here early today which climaxed a bitter class war at the school. Seven other persons were hurt in the crash, one of them, Mrs. Arthur D. Winslow, Wilmette, was badly cut by flying glass.

The crash resulted when James Leahy, driving an automobile laden with freshmen students at high speed, dashed in front of a car driven by Mrs. Winslow. The students' automobile was flung into a ditch. The student car was trying to block the path of a car filled with sophomores.

The crash is the climax, according to university students, of bitter class hatred which had its beginning in the fall of 1921, of Leighton Hunt, a Northwestern student, who has never been seen since. Yesterday Dick Howell, prominent athlete, and also a freshman, was kidnapped.

An unidentified dead woman was found to be a Mrs. Brewster, a tenant on the third floor. Miss Bertha Kuxis was to have been married to Edward Aaron on June 17. She had spent Wednesday visiting her sweetheart's family and Thursday visiting another family in Harlem. She returned to her home last night.

Most of the victims were women and children. One whole family was annihilated. This was the family of Mr. and Mrs. Kuxis, both of whom were killed along with their two children, Bertha, aged 21, and David, aged 19.

Mrs. Mandelbaum and her six children all met death on the top floor. The young victims were Minnie, 15; Michael, 12; Morris, 10; Benjamin, 8; Alexander, 4, and a baby aged 18 months.
